WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet buzzing of U.S. airliners in the air corridors to Berlin spurred consideration today of possible Western counter measures.

Two incidents involving Soviet fighter planes were announced by the State Department Thursday night shortly after Western foreign ministers completed the first session of a three-day conference here on Berlin policy planning.

The ministers were expected, diplomats said, to take the incidents into account in their meetings today.

One of their major considerations since the Berlin crisis started has been to decide what steps would be taken by the Western powers if the Soviets or Communist East Germans began harassing aircraft using the Berlin corridors.

Diplomatic informants suggested that the buzzing of two Pan American aircraft would bring quick decisions on the part of the U.S. and Allied governments about protective measures—which could mean the use of Western fighters defensively in the air corridors.

Within the U.S. government, it was reported, military leaders have been studying the possibility of stationing fighter planes near the air corridor terminals in West Germany to have them ready for instant action if it appeared that an airliner in the corridors was endangered by Communist fighter plane buzzing.

The State Department announcement of the incidents Thursday said that "Soviet fighters endangered the flights of two American planes."

The department said a Soviet MIG circled a Pan American Berlin-Hamburg flight just outside of Berlin in the northernmost of the three 20-mile-wide corridors.

"The Soviet fighter circled the airliner several times," the State Department said, "Then pulled alongside and for a short distance flew 20 feet off the right wing tip."

About three hours later, the statement said, another Pan American flight was approached by two fighters in the south corridor about 80 miles from Berlin.

"One Soviet fighter followed in a tail position," the statement said. "The other crossed it at its nose at a distance of 100 feet."

In another air incident Thursday, two West German military pilots flew across East German territory in jet planes and landed safely at a Berlin airport. They said they strayed off course because of instrument failure.

County Asks Levies For $300,000

Total Of 1½ Mills Asked In Operating And Home Expense

Acting just before the deadline for seeking a Nov. 7 election ballot place, commissioners enacted resolutions late Thursday afternoon asking a vote on two new tax levies totaling 1½ mills to provide an additional $300,000 a year for operating expenses, including modernization of the ancient County Home.

The commissioners filed the resolutions with the County Election Board, seeking a vote on a levy of eight-tenths of a mill to provide $160,000 more annually for general operating expenses and a levy of seven-tenths of a mill that would provide $140,000 a year for "maintenance, repair, operations and new construction" at the County Home.

Each proposition would be in effect three years and would require a majority for approval.

The resolutions asking the ballot places were enacted by the affirmative votes of Commissioners Walter A. Hunston of East Palestine and Galen Greenisen of Salem, both Republicans.

Frank Wilson of Wellsville, the only Democrat on the three-member board, voted "no" on both resolutions.

The resolutions were approved at the last minute, as state law says such a proposition must be filed "before Sept. 15" if it's designed for a ballot place at a general election. Advised that the commissioners intended to submit the two 11th-hour propositions, the County Election Board kept its

NEW KATANGA CRISIS. United Nations troops patrol street in Elisabethville, Katanga, during search for "agitators" in the secessionist province. U.N. troops took over key points in Wednesday's action at bringing Katanga under control of the Central Congo government. But operation ran into stiff opposition Thursday when Katangese launched a counterattack. Fighting was reported fierce, with heavy casualties on both sides. (UPI Telephoto)

Tribe Chiefs And Whites Rally To Call

Tshombe Vows To Resist To Death In Directing Blows

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—President Moise Tshombe's Katanga army threw planes, armored cars and hundreds of troops into widely scattered attacks on U.N. forces throughout the Congo's secessionist province today.

Tribal chiefs in the hinterland and white settlers in the Katanga capital, Elisabethville, rose to Tshombe's call for a "war to the last bullet" against the United Nations and to keep the province independent of the Leopoldville government.

Tshombe himself, vowing to resist to the death, directed the blows in his mineral-rich province.

The U.N. mission said the fighting started Wednesday when it moved to establish its security in Elisabethville because white mercenaries in Tshombe's hire were disrupting Congolese unity and threatening to bring on a civil war.

At the big U.N. airfield and military base at Kamina, Battle-weary Swedish troops fought off repeated onslaughts by Katanga forces led by white officers and backed by armored cars.

In Jadotville, a mining center 60 miles from Elisabethville, 150 beleaguered Irish troops were strafed by a Katanga jet fighter.

Mortar and machine-gun fire raked the north Katanga base of Kamina and the radio station there was knocked out. Since then all communications with the U.N. Kamina garrison have been cut off.

Two companies of Swedish troops were flown from Leopoldville this morning to reinforce the U.N. garrison.

They were flying to an area swarming with Katanga soldiers based only a few miles from the sprawling U.N. installations taken over from the Belgians at Kamina. Some reports reaching Leopoldville said Katanga forces have an armored train which is shelling the U.N. base.

Swedish troops in Kamina have only light weapons.

Reinforcements were sent to the hard pressed task force, which on Wednesday proclaimed that its military action against Tshombe's troops had restored the province to Leopoldville's control.

At Jadotville, U.N. Irish troops defied an ultimatum to surrender and were promptly bombed and strafed by a katanga jet fighter plane.

Midland Told Of Crucible's Smoke Plans

Councilmen Learn Of Mill's Problems With Air Pollution

Air pollution was discussed by two representatives of the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co. and Midland Council Thursday evening.

Council also passed an ordinance, authorizing a lease agreement with the Municipal Water Authority for the operation of the new sewage treatment plant. No rates have been set.

Councilman Harvey Sponcer reported on action to have three new fire hydrants installed and two relocated.

Attending the informal discussion on air pollution by the company were Glenn Roberts, superintendent of community relations, and Charles Yutemeyer, superintendent of the coke, iron and steel division.

They indicated that Crucible is concerned with Midland and will do whatever it can to prevent air pollution. They said there should be no alarm over a new oxygen process, which many have believed will increase air pollution but which actually releases the same impurities as under the present ore process. But with an increased volume, there would naturally be more impurities.

Roberts presented to Council for its records a copy of a letter the company sent recently to employes, explaining the company's concern over air pollution, discussing the need for the oxygen process and listing many efforts of the company in the past to reduce the problem.

Roberts said the company is investigating devices to remove impurities but so far all are too expensive. Yutmeyer said that the recent smoke control installed by the Jones & Laughlin Co. cost as much as the Ft. Pitt tunnel.

Councilmen pointed out that in the last two months there has been a heavy smog during the evenings. Yutmeyer said the dust

Pedestrian's Death Declared 'Accident'

A verdict of "accidental death" was returned Thursday night by a six-member coroner's jury in the traffic fatality of Caris Calvin Campbell, 59, of Chester R.D. 1 late Wednesday afternoon on U. S. Route 30.

The victim was struck while crossing Route 30 near the Pennsylvania State Line.

The inquest was conducted by a coroner's jury sworn in Wednesday by Squire John D. Herron of New Cumberland, acting Hancock County coroner.

DETROIT (AP) — Walter P. Reuther, United Auto Workers president, declined to speculate today whether strikes that have shut off auto production by General Motors Corp. can be ended by Monday, as requested by President Kennedy.

Each side blames the other for the strikes.

Local-level working agreements still had not been reached at 66 of GM's 129 plants and there appeared little hope that GM could be back in full production before the middle of next week at the earliest.

Even at some of the 63 plants where local-level settlements have been effected workmen have not returned to their jobs.

Asked about prospects of complete settlement by Monday, Reuther told newsmen: "I'm not going to speculate on a particular day. We all recognize the urgency of the situation and are working hard."

Pointing to eight settlements within the 24 hours to last midnight, Reuther said if all the strikes had been in one place and settlement had come in one day and night that would have seemed like a tremendous job. The eight settlements involved 22,000 workmen.

Threat of new disruption was averted today when the International Union of Electrical Workers agreed to extend their contract indefinitely, subject to 48 hours cancellation notice, for five of six IUE-represented GM plants.

The six IUE plants employ approximately 25,000 persons; the 123 UAW plants about 325,000.

2 Ex-Turkey Officials Sentenced To Death

YASSIADA, Turkey (AP) — A special tribunal today sentenced deposed Premier Adnan Menderes and ex-President Celal Bayar to die on the gallows.

Just hours before the sentence was pronounced Menderes suffered a serious nervous collapse and was unable to appear in court.

Menderes and Bayar were condemned for violating the constitution during the years they held Turkey under their iron rule. Eight co-defendants were condemned with them — six for violating the constitution and two for embezzling public funds.

3 Thugs Rob Woman Of $50,000 In Loot

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Police sought today three men who bound and robbed a suburban Cleveland Heights woman of an estimated $50,000 worth of furs and jewelry and $200 in cash.

Kennedy Aid Rejects Plea To Up Tariff

The Kennedy administration will not consider strict curbs on imports for fear of retaliation from foreign nations against American goods, the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters has been advised in a letter from a presidential aide.

The White House letter came to Secretary-Treasurer Charles F. Jordan of the IBOP, who wrote about a week ago to president Kennedy, asking him to consider seeking higher tariffs or a quota system as a way of safeguarding the domestic ceramic industry and the jobs of its employes.

After conceding Jordan's point that IBOP members "have attained a high degree of skill," Feldman continued:

"I do not consider it advisable, however, to recommend a protest against foreign imports. At present, our exports exceed our imports by approximately five billion dollars. Many industries depend upon exports for their very existence. Obviously, any indiscriminate cancellation of the right to sell to the United States would provoke retaliation and create chaos."

In his letter to the President, Jordan had pointed out a resolution asking relief from the inroads of imports was passed at the IBOP's international convention in June in Miami.

He explained that some dinnerware plants have been forced to close in recent years because their markets have been taken away by cheap imports and that work schedules have been curtailed generally in the remaining factories. Jordan added that most IBOP members are skilled craftsmen who have spent many years on their jobs and would be unable to find employment readily in some other industry.

Joint School Move Seen Now In Effect

Deadline Is Passed Without Petition To Ban Merger

Merger of the Southern Local and Franklin Local school districts went into effect Thursday—ending Columbiana County's only eight-year school system — but county officials were still awaiting a study of a petition from Franklin residents for a merger with Carroll County.

Yesterday marked the deadline for a 30-day period in which a remonstrance petition could have been filed against the consolidation, but no such valid petition was presented.

Fred Johnson of Summitville had presented to the County Board of Education a petition bearing 307 signatures, asking a merger with Carroll Districts and an election.

However, the petition was far short of the required 35 per cent of the voters in the Southern Local and Franklin Local areas, although it represented 98 per cent of Franklin voters, Johnson said.

County Prosecutor William Brokaw, currently presenting criminal cases to the Grand Jury, is expected to present a ruling on possible effects of Johnson's petition on the merger at a meeting of the County Board Tuesday night at 8 at the Courthouse.

Registration Deadline For City Due Sept. 27

Wednesday, Sept. 27, will be the final day for unqualified East Liverpool voters to register for the Nov. 7 general election, Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the County Election Board, reminded today.

The city now has 10,476 qualified electors, about 2,000 short of the potential of 12,500, O'Hanlon pointed out. Unqualified voters may register Monday through Friday from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. and Saturday from 9 a. m. to noon at the board's office on W. 6th St., opposite City Hall.

Despite the approaching deadline, there has been no sign of a rush to qualify. On the final day, the board will operate branch registration offices in East End, North Side and Pleasant Heights, supplementing the facilities at the downtown office.

Death Toll At 40

Carla Continues To Haunt Texas

Carla's death list stood at 40 in four states but grim apprehension prevailed as waters continued to recede, revealing more destruction.

Twenty-eight persons were dead in Texas. Kansas counted 5, Missouri 2, and Louisiana 5.

The hurricane, termed one of the most vicious ever to swirl out of the Gulf of Mexico, battered Texas and Louisiana coasts with winds up to 173 miles an hour and tides of nearly 14 feet. It then swept northward to bring torrential downpours and floods to Oklahoma, Kansas, and Missouri.

Authorities could only estimate the damage done to the South Texas areas swept by Carla's tornadic winds.

Red Cross survey teams said at least 40,200 homes were destroyed or damaged in the 14 counties hit by the hurricane.

Ralph Shannon, Dallas County Red Cross director, said also destroyed or damaged were 900 farm buildings, 875 other buildings and 340 boats and house trailers.

Hampering those who sought to aid in the gigantic mopup were impassable highways, threats of disease, disrupted utilities, lack of water to drink and poisonous snakes.

The Texas Highway Department reported many roads remained closed by rainfall floods. Some areas were off-limits to all but those who could prove they had a valid reason for entering.

Crop damage in the highly agricultural state was heavy. Jefferson County, in the southeast corner of the state, reported rice losses amounting to 50 per cent of the crop.

Waller county, also in southeast Texas, was reported to have sustained almost $1.5 million worth of crop losses.

Waller County Agent E. M. Weaver said the cotton crop was a total loss.

Double Truck Wreck Hurts East End Man

An East End man was injured Thursday afternoon when his truck and another collided at the foot of the Route 30 hill in Chester — one of two mishaps in Chester yesterday.

Patrolman Clarence Lennens said an empty 1958 truck driven east by Albert Morgan, 46, of Connellsville, Pa., crossed the center line on Carolina Ave. at the foot of the hill, and rammed the westbound dump truck operated by Shields.

Shield's truck, loaded with coal, was demolished and a large quantity of coal was scattered on the street, Lennens said.

Morgan, cited for failure to have his vehicle under control, posted a $15.50 bond for a hearing Saturday before Mayor Ray Collins. His truck received extensive damage, the officer reported. The mishap was timed at 2:45.

No one was injured in a collision between a sedan driven by Max Tuttle, 53, of Indiana Ave., Chester, and a pickup truck operated by Robert Ferenhaugh, 30, of Howard, Ohio, last night at 8:05 at Carolina Ave. and 5th St.

Lennens said Tuttle was making a right turn from Carolina Ave. onto 5th St. when his right rear fender and rocker panel caught on the front bumper of the truck which was halted at a curb, waiting to pull into traffic. Damage was minor, Lennens said.

Hurricane's Course Unchanged In Atlantic

Forecaster Raymond Kraft said there were "slight indications" that Esther might take a turn toward the Northwest in the next day or two, but he emphasized it was too early to say definitely.

New Postal Facility Due Cumberland

New Cumberland will get a new Post Office as a part of President Kennedy's accelerated program of postal construction and modernization.

Rep. Cleveland M. Bailey said today he has learned that the Post Office Department is seeking bids to furnish and lease space suitable for quarters in the Hancock County seat.

Closing date for the bids is Oct. 20, Bailey said.

The proposed new, modern facility will be constructed under the Postal Department's commercial leasing program, utilizing resources and investment funds of private enterprise.

Specifications call for approximately 2,260 square feet of interior space, outside loading platform, and adequate area for parking and truck maneuvering, the congressman said.

Bailey's announcement did not mention a site for the proposed building. Earl Bennett is postmaster.

A trespassing charge against Robert F. Buchheit of Ohio Ave. was dismissed today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff at the request of the complaining witnesses, Mr. and Mrs. George Durbin of Thompson Ave. The affidavit alleged Buchheit entered the Durbin property Tuesday and refused to leave when ordered. Mrs. Durbin told the court she decided to request dismissal to avoid a public airing on the dispute that led to the charge.

Father Of 6 Faces Prison

BEAVER — A 31-year-old father of six children faced a 10-to-20-year prison term today after being found guilty of second degree murder Thursday night in Beaver County Court.

A jury returned a verdict last night against Ezra Lowe of Aliquippa in the fatal shooting May 28 of Fred Wallace, 29, also of Aliquippa.

Attys. Edwin M. Wallover of Beaver and James B Ceris of Ambridge, Lowe's counsel, said today they were not certain whether they will appeal the verdict. They have until Monday.

Meanwhile, Atty. Robert Masters of Midland, assistant district attorney, said he will seek a second degree murder verdict in the trial of Stephen Michael Davis, 69, of New Galilee, which will begin Monday.

Davis was indicted in the fatal shooting of his daughter, Mrs. Louise Marie Dorsch, 42, on July 11. Attys. Charles Marshall and Eugene Rumisek, both of Beaver Falls, have been appointed by the court to defend Davis.

Criminal intent is generally necessary for the commission of a crime besides the crime itself.

Ex-Director Banned In Delinquency Case

Thomas Enochs of Lehigh Acres, Fla., former city safety-service director, was fined $500 and given a suspended one-year sentence Thursday in Juvenile Court at Lisbon after pleading guilty to acts tending to cause the delinquency of a 15-year-old city boy.

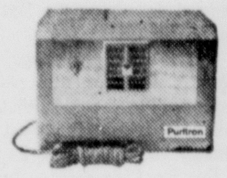

The jail term was suspended by Judge Louis Tobin on condition Enochs leave Columbiana County and not return for a period of two years unless given court permission.

Enochs, who had been visiting here, was freed on $1,000 bond after a preliminary hearing earlier this month at which he pleaded innocent. He changed his plea to guilty yesterday.

Always Willing To Listen

Washington's red carpet has been rolled up.

Presidents Sukarno of Indonesia and Keita of Mali have gone home after stopping over to tell President Kennedy how the bystander nations felt at Belgrade.

They were delegated to do this by two dozen Belgrade delegates.

The gist of their message to the United States was that this country should waste no time before arranging a conference with the men in the Kremlin, to preserve peace. Always willing to listen, the United States concealed its feelings about the Belgrade nations and some of the other nations being heard from these days.

Eventually, its feelings about them will get too unwieldy to conceal any longer. The first one likely to get unwieldy is the feeling that every spokesman who purports to have a national backing should spell out the backing as part of his credentials.

SOME OF THE gentlemen representing their nations are highly estimable as individuals. But from the viewpoint of American citizens who delegate authority under their popular sovereignty to citizens who actually speak for them, subject to the popular will, they have no actual backing.

In one way or another they merely have boiled to the top of their assorted political cauldrons. Some of the cauldrons, moreover, are miniscule. Some are only half-formed. Compared with nations that have been in existence long enough to develop traditions and policies, the nations so described are apprentices in an inter-related world. They have not earned the right to speak.

Mali, for example, is so new and so vaguely formed that its president and premier Mobido Keita would be hard-pressed to define precisely the autonomy he professes to represent. Yet, in the topsy-turvy world of this era, men like President Keita presume to carry on negotiations as equals with the president of a country whose system of delegated authority by the consent of the sovereign people is one of the marvels of the Christian era.

IN THE UNITED NATIONS General Assembly, votes are bestowed according to governments, not according to the number of people represented by governments.

The United States must look ahead with dread to the possibility it might be outvoted on a key question in the not-too-distant future by a bloc of delegates representing nothing but themselves.

This country should always listen courteously to well-meant advice, as its chief executive has just done in receiving the two emissaries from Belgrade.

But it cannot be expected to be silent about its feeling that some of the advice and pressure it is encountering represent nothing but the prejudices and interests of individuals temporarily on top in their various political cauldrons — men who never asked for or were given a popular mandate.

No Special Help For New York

He also is going against the grain of New Yorkers of both political parties accustomed to the idea that their city is entitled to comparably vast sums of federal money to help it solve its endless problems.

But the Ohio senator has taken the right position.

A "world's fair" in New York City is not the kind of project that calls for help from the rest of us.

If we go to the fair—and many of us will go to it—we will pay handsomely for the privilege. Not only will the money-takers at the fair have their hands out, but New York City will have its hand out. Nothing will be free.

Sen. Lausche says he is blocking the expenditure of as much as $30 million for a federal building on the site of the New York fair because it was agreed when Congress approved New York as the site of the fair that no federal money would be sought. He thinks the agreement should be honored.

The fair is a straight-out commercial venture. If it's a good show, it will draw enough customers to make everybody happy, and the customers themselves will be easier to please if they aren't clipped for $30 million in advance.

It's Dahlia Time

The 36th annual show sponsored by the East Liverpool Dahlia and Floral Society will be held here Saturday and Sunday. The place is the Westgate School and time is Saturday 5 to 10 p. m. and Sunday noon until 8 p. m.

The local society has received wide recognition for its activities and has been instrumental in letting the rest of the nation know that East Liverpool and the immediate district produces outstanding dahlia growers. Trophies captured in competition speak for themselves.

The annual show is another fitting tribute to a fine and dedicated group of people.

You could find few more pleasant ways to spend your time over the weekend than to pay a visit to the dahlia show. Admission is free. We're sure the local society would like nothing better than to see the exhibit area jammed from the time the doors open until they close.

Facing A Moment Of Truth

Every champion of free enterprise has sensed a moment of truth coming in the communication industry's effort to develop satellite systems.

A choice had to be made between free enterprise and captive enterprise. Either private companies would be given responsibility on their own initiative, or they would be given orders by the government.

It never was a question of the government, itself, vs. private companies, because the government lacked facilities. It was a question whether the job would be done by companies under agreement with one another, or by companies under government authority, with all terms dictated from Washington.

THE WALL STREET JOURNAL says the question hasn't been answered, though the government decision was made in July to give free enterprise its chance.

The interested companies are so engrossed in cutting up each other, and especially in cutting up American Telephone & Telegraph, the giant in the field, that they may force government intervention as a means of getting something done.

The Soviet Union may score another sensational first in the space age. International communication via earth satellites that would transmit messages over great distances is the most important use so far for the giant rockets that can put satellites into long-lasting orbits around the earth.

Here is the enigma of the enterprise system, which works best in the long run because of competition yet works badly in the short run for the same reason.

HERE IS THE CHALLENGE that enterprise faces when government control is the alternative—whether it can agree to quit disagreeing long enough to get things under way—whether it can agree at all without having some eager young lawyer from the antitrust division of the Justice Department breathing on its neck.

Private enterprise wants its chance in satellite communications. For once, government is willing to step aside. But if all this means is a chance for component elements in private enterprise to fight while Russian authoritarians go rocketing along to still more success, government control is the only alternative.

The Once Over

Western insurance company is basing auto rates for young drivers on psychological and personality tests in which questions include "Which would you prefer to be, a YMCA leader, Scoutmaster or plumber?" Other questions seem similarly strange in determining how a kid will drive an auto.

Applicant who answers "I would rather be a plumber" gets lowest mark. (Plumbers of the world arise! Don't take this lying down under the kitchen sink.)

We have been scared stiff on highways by just as many potential YMCA leaders as plumbers, and a Scoutmaster can be as slow to obey the "Yield Right of Way" sign as a steamfitter.

If quizzes are getting that curious, lets go the limit:

Q. Which would you rather be, a safety first chairman, a calciminer or a bird watcher.

A. Some of my best friends are bird watchers but they tend to follow the flight of woodpeckers when they should be keeping eyes on road. I want to be a shortstop.

Q. A football refereee, a short-order cook, a U.S. Steel executive and a Cub den mother all meet at same intersection at same speed. Which would you prefer to be?

A. A Cub den mother for purposes of low insurance but a tow car service man all things considered at the moment.

Q. If six drivers were contesting right of way with you at a dangerous crossing, and they were an insurance salesman or, an intoxicated botanist and four firemen which would give you the best break?

A. The four firemen. They would at least hold a net for me.

Q. Traffic being what it is, would you prefer to be a racing driver, a tourist hurrying home from a weekend or a trapeze artist with weak wrists?

A. What's the difference?

Reuther Uses 'Brinkmanship'

By Victor Riesel

As this week opened amid the echoes of N. S. Khrushchev's megaton munitions, the President of the U.S. wanted to know why the president of the UAW (auto union) had shut down the General Motors Corp. John Kennedy telephoned his own account executive in charge of domestic crises — namely Arthur Goldberg who had been in touch with both sides in Detroit right through the weekend and even through the highest holy holidays of Mr. Goldberg's faith.

Victor Riesel

In effect, the report from Detroit — and therefore to the President — was that Walter Reuther had decided to make matters worse for a short time so they could be better quicker.

Apparently the rank-and-file had become strike happy. So had many of their regional and local leaders. Militant speeches had moved them right over the brink.

As Walter Reuther and GM's Louis Seaton were trying to negotiate a peace, wildcatters hit the bricks in at least 17 cities shutting down some 40 plants.

IN ONE CITY the "rebels" told their own local chiefs to go to hell.

In another the executive board replied to a go-back-to-work telegram from Detroit with basic Anglo-Saxon, unprintable here.

When some plants in the Pittsburgh area went down, the company warned that much of GM's 129 plant complex would be affected. There would be no supply of car bodies — since there was no stockpile of new models.

Red-hots all over the place began talking of gold - plated sweat shops, parking lot grievances, as well as the 2,000 more series of local demands (out of the well publicized 16,000) for such matters as a longer lunch hour and more relief men to permit assembly line workers to attend to personal needs.

It might have gone out of control. It was 1958 all over again. Virtually everybody has forgotten that after the national GM settlement, back there, the company could not get into effective production for six wildcat-filled weeks. Some $50 million was lost by all sides, according to estimates then.

THEN, AS NOW, the issues were the same. On Oct. 3, 1958 I reported that there would be no auto settlement until there was agreement on relief time, wash-up time, less work by supervisors on the line and one similar wage for similar work throughout the company, as well as more time for auto union committeemen to handle the men's grievances.

There is one difference. Then the President was Dwight Eisenhower. His labor secretary was Jim Mitchell. Walter Reuther did not promise Ike that there would be industrial peace. That promise, in effect, has been made to John Kennedy and Arthur Goldberg. Ike's White House kept it's people out of the negotiations until the apogee. Kennedy's Goldberg has been in this since the crisis was put on the launching pad.

Over this last weekend it became obvious that the 2,000 local demands would not be settled by Monday morning.

I AM INFORMED that this is the message that then went from Detroit union headquarters to Washington. Though I never have used anonymous quots, I break precedent here. Otherwise I could not use it at all. The message was:

"The wildcat walkouts were being led by militants so strike-happy that Reuther would have had to battle his own men to get them back.

"If he had denounced them and they had rebuffed him, it could have wildfired into open rebellion.

"Reuther pulled them all out so he could keep it orderly.

"This he hoped would avert any awkwardness that might result from open defiance and the need to bring local rebels up on charges. Nor did he want to appear to give in to ambitious hot hands trying to make a reputation among the rank and file who have long been agitated over these negotiations by scores of speeches, rallies and literature.

"So Reuther called them all out to centralize strike leadership in Detroit and keep order. Thus he leads and doesn't follow. There is no patchwork of some men reporting and others not reporting. Order is kept. Then in Detroit the national UAW officers complete a pact and tell everybody to go back at the same time."

The risk was calculated. Reuther counted on a short walkout after the general settlement — a controlled stoppage. This analysis was passed on to John Kennedy.

A Look At Congress

By Rowland Evans Jr.

WASHINGTON

Congress seems destined to disappoint, even when it votes most of what a president asks.

The more the thrust of government and the impulse of innovation and experiment are concentrated in the executive, the more Congress seems to wallow.

Where were the historic debates in the first Kennedy Congress? If Congress is the forum of the people, the people's voice has been strangely silent. The pages of the Congressional Record, that shaggy lawn of many weeds, are filled on almost any day with page upon page of what Sen. Jones or Rep. Smith said—not in the halls of Congress but in a television debate somewhere else.

Why waste one's energies reciting a mimeographed speech to an empty Senate when the local broadcasting station back home will carry it live (or canned) to the audience that really counts —one's own constituency?

The time is ripe for serious debate in Congress but there is no debate.

SEN. STROM THURMOND, the right-wing South Carolina Democrat, has tried hard to get a debate going on an issue of great significance to the country, whether high military officers should be gagged for instructing their troops how to vote in national elections. Sen. Thurmond thinks they should not, which indicates how far the right-wing is prepared to go, but Sen. Thurmond, at least, is prepared to argue the case in Congress.

It is a case that should be argued because the question of permitting the military to mix in politics is a fundamental one.

But there was no real debate.

And where was the debate on the broad issue of separation of church and state and its corollary, the question of federal aid for Catholic schools?

If not in Congress, then where else is the charge of Cardinal Spellman to be dismissed and examined, that to deny federal aid to parochial schools, while granting it to public schools, is to subvert the process of education in this country?

The votes were cast but the issue was never really explored. And yet the cutting edge of the "religious issue" hacks away on federal school-aid bills year after year.

Congress has lost, one hopes temporarily, its passion for debating the great issues. In the period leading up to the Civil War, presidents were comparatively weak and the men of Congress powerful.

THE WORDS spoken in the Senate on the question of slavery, abolition, federalism, and union became the basis of men's thinking and helped shape political opinion.

Today, power centers in the White House. It is framed in the glamor of personality and the glitter of that descriptive little word, glamorous. If you ran its image up the flag pole, to paraphrase a Madison Avenueism, it would not fly.

But Congress has not yet lost the will to use its veto power. It permitted religion and states rights to kill the President's public school bill but states rights swallowed its principles and voted an extension of federal aid to inspected areas; it refused to make a start toward closing innumerable special-interest tax loopholes; it declined to give the administration the mechanism it asked to assure long-term financing of foreign economic aid; it failed to tackle the President's program for old-age medical care and it showed decisively in its last few weeks that the center of the House is far from the right of the President.

Through The Years

THIRTY YEARS AGO — Miss Louise Cook was renamed teacher of the Sigma Alpha Class of the First Church of Christ.

W. E. Wells of Newell Heights, chairman of the board of directors of the Homer Laughlin China Co. and recognized spokesman for the American Ceramic Industry, died suddenly from a cerebral hemrorhage at his home.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Howard J. Lindell, Thomas Maley and Ralph A. McShane were named to assist in the program of the Ohio State Elks Association.

Mrs. Elizabeth Smith was received as a new member of White Rose Lodge 25, Daughters of St. George.

The Value Of Critics

By David Lawrence

Why The Hullabaloo Over Paar's Berlin Show?

"What was all the hullabaloo about?"

This question undoubtedly came from the lips of many millions one of the world's most powerful Communists. He is, of course, as unknown throughout the United States as was Lumumba in the days when folks did not ing Co. over a large network of stations.

Anyone who saw the program, as did this correspondent, must have wondered why members of Congress who hadn't seen it, but had read newspaper accounts of the filming episode itself, went off the deep end in their criticism. In fact, the Pentagon — without waiting to see the pictures — removed one colonel from his post and admonished another who had helped to arrange or had participated in the affair.

This led a lot of Americans to believe that some grievous error had been committeed. The filmed show itself didn't bear out the news stories that had been written about it, particularly with regard to the presence of armed vehicles and the number of soldiers at the scene.

Actually, the show did more to enlighten the American people about the inhumane acts of the Communists in separating families in East Berlin from relatives in West Berlin, and generally disrupting the life of a peaceful community, than may have been obtained from reading some of the fragmentary news accounts over a series of days.

It was Confucius who said that "a picture is worth 10,000 words." While this may often be exaggerated, many viewers got for the first time from the photographs of the walls and barricades and sealed-up apartments on the line the impact of the physical imprisonment of the East Germans.

The pictures were vividly interspersed with the comments by Jack Paar and his capable assistant, Peggy Cass, who together did the kind of job that many a newscaster has done on news events in the past.

THE YEAR happens to be 1961 and not 1931, and television is just another form of communication included in the term "the press."

There wouldn't have been any debate in Congress if some well-known reporter had gone to the West Berlin border and interviewed the American commander and his troops and had gotten from them impressions of the task they were doing.

What Jack Paar did was to talk briefly to 15 or 20 soldiers out of the many hundreds scattered inside the city along the borderline. He merely asked them to give their names and their home towns. This was, of course, to provide some parents or relatives back home a chance to see their loved ones.

The colonel in charge answered a few routine questions which wouldn't have caused a ripple if the interview had been obtained by a newspaper reporter.

It will be said that in a time of tension this sort of episode can create an "incident" or bring on international complications. But the Communists had their photographers there, too, as well as moviemen, and they made pictures of the whole scene from their side of the line.

Incidentally, there wasn't a single thing about it that was funny or intended as comedy. In fact, one felt a little sorry for Jack Paar and his staff as they worked in the pouring rain.

It was on the whole a serious affair, and had it been done by some of the regular newscasters it would have been regarded as a news feature or special news project.

AMERICANS watching the program not only saw pictures of the way a city has been sealed off but were given also some significant sidelights.

There was, for instance, a picture of a big handbill, turned toward East Berlin, proclaiming that citizens of West Berlin had offered a $2,500 reward for information that would lead to the capture of the Communist who shot and killed a teen-age youngster as he sought to swim to freedom from East to West Berlin. The boy had reached the West Berlin side and was clearly out of East Berlin when the Communist bullet ended his life.

There was no excuse for the murder. It so happens that a photograph of the killer was obtained, and it was placed on the poster. So sooner or later one Communist murderer may pay for his crime.

To many watching the show the thought must have occurred that those members of Congress who became so vehement over the filming of the show might better have spent their time expressing a sense of outrage over the murder of this and other East Germans who had risked their lives to escape their Communist prison.

This West Berlin - East Berlin affair isn't tensed up every minute of the day. There are hours of monotony, and hence a filming of the scene with a few soldiers on hand didn't affect any military operations at all. But in presenting worth-while information—or even propaganda against Communism — the Jack Paar show was an effective piece of work.

He deserves not brickbats but applause for his revelation of the human story behind the Berlin crisis.

One thing that can be said for the critics is that, by their advance comments, they helped to boost tremendously the audience for the show on Tuesday night.

Letters To The Editor

I had an unusual experience the other night. I went to a PTA meeting at Westgate School because I thought they would take up about our children's safety in crossing the construction area around the school and how we parents could help make the school better for the children.

But all they did was play "name bingo" and talk about raising money.

Even the principal, Mr. Dixon, told the people that he wanted them to buy chairs for the school. I thought the school district bought these things. The whole meeting was about everything but our children. I think it's about time for PTAs to get back to the purpose of looking after the needs of the children.

You might not want to print my letter, but I talked to some of my neighbors and they told me that that's the reason they don't go to the PTA meetings. I was going to ask these questions, but the president was more interested in the money - raising things.

I know I don't write what I mean very well and I know the school people will be angry, but I do think that all the PTAs in the city should look over their record.

MRS. ROSE MILLER
W. 9th St.

Last week there was a letter in this column criticizing the type of things that are printed in the newspapers, the moral standards people accept and the type of sermons ministers preach — with a warning to the American people we should turn back to God.

I thought it was well written, with a lot of good meaning, so I wrote the author to comment on it, but my letter was returned marked "address unknown".

I also feel there are a lot of things printed in the newspapers that would be much better unsaid, but this was my first remembrance of seeing a complaint in print. Papers usually print what the people want to read. The movies and TV usually produce entertainment the public wants. So until enough people demand a difference it will stay as it is.

Ministers have been preaching for years, with few people really listening. There are some anti-Christians among them who some people want to hear, but there are so many men of God that preach a lot of good messages to unreceptive souls.

People some times let a number of things stand in the way of hearing God's word and shut out a vision of Christ.

The world is made up of people who decide by their actions what kind of a world it will be.

is more noticeable now since the company had increased production after a reduced level.

Steve Germusa, Council president, suggested atmospheric conditions, such as humidity, may have something to do with the problem and both Crucible men agreed.

Councilman Joseph D'Alesio suggested that the company's cindering plant operation could be moved to the daylight turn. He also expressed concern over air pollution affecting the health of residents. Yutmeyer said Crucible has no processes which release toxic impurities.

He explained the need of the company to use oxygen, which reduces the time of a heat and produces steel at a competitive price.

Crucible plans to experiment with the oxygen process on one of its open hearth furnaces.

Germusa said a recent sample of air pollution was taken by the Pennsylvania Department of Health at the new sewage plant and results will be known later.

Mrs. C. K. O'Hara, borough secretary, read a letter and reported a phone call concerning the borough's request for a representative of the state's Air Pollution Board to attend Council's meeting Sept. 28. Both Crucible spokesmen were invited by Germusa to attend. Legal aspects will be discussed.

Sponcer, fire committee chairman, reported on action of his committee and that of D'Alesio's service committee on fire hydrants recommended at the last meeting.

New hydrants will be installed at 6th St. and Virginia Ave., at 7th St. and Ohio Ave. and near Presentation Parochial School at Penn Ave. and 8th St. Hydrants to be relocated include one at 628 Ohio Ave., which will be moved to 6th St. and Ohio Ave., and one on 1st St. hill to 1st St. and Woodland Ave.

He said the cost to the borough will be the expense of the three new "plugs" at $24 a year, which is paid to the Municipal Authority.

Mrs. O'Hara reminded councilmen of a meeting next Wednesday at 8 p.m. at Judge Morgan Sohn's courtroom at the Beaver Courthouse to organize a boroughs association of Beaver County. Germusa and D'Alesio plan to attend.

Germusa reported on a meeting of the Planning Commission he attended Monday evening. He said he authorized the authority to have Michael Baker Jr., Inc., Rochester consulting engineers, look into the possibility of federal aid for construction of off-street parking facilities.

Germusa said Mayor Eli Corak, who also is Beaver County commissioner, was in Washington recently to learn how to obtain federal loans and grants. He said Corak believes that Midland will be high on the priority list and should get the money without too much trouble.

Sponcer reported on a recent request of the Industry firemen for fire protection while the Industry fire truck is down for repairs.

Sponcer suggested that Midland enter into a reciprocal agreement with Industry as it has with East Liverpool. Germusa asked Sponcer to have the agreement drawn up with Atty. Robert Masters, solicitor, so Council may approve it.

Mrs. O'Hara read the report of the 1961 season of the Veterans Memorial Swimming pool submitted for Councilman William Vinovich, who was not present.

It listed $2,691 for complete passes and $2,947.25 for individual passes, less a refund of $5, totaling $5,633.25 which is $217.05 less than the 1960 proceeds of $5,850.30. Councilmen offered congratulations to Vinovich for a successful year.

Germusa reported on complaints that the pool was not open during the recent hot days after closing Labor Day. He said it is not the policy for the pool to be open afterwards.

Track Link Due Repairs

The West Virginia State Road Commission is planning extensive improvements to a rural Hancock County road used by motorists as a short-cut to Waterford Park Race Track.

Manley Howard of Moundsville, district engineer, said Allison School Rd. in the rural Chester area will be improved this fall.

Length of the project is 7½ miles, stretching from the area of the Hilltop drive-in theater on Route 2 to Route 66 near the track.

Howard said the secondary road will be improved with concrete, gravel and dirt. Some work already has been done, he said.

The Moundsville office could not confirm reports that State Road Commissioner Burl Sawyers had authorized an initial appropriation of $50,000 for improvements to U. S. Route 30 through Chester.

He was quoted earlier as reporting the deep curves of the Chester Hill will be widened and the road graded.

Estimated cost of the improvement to the Allison School Rd. is believed to be $50,000. The road is used heavily during Waterford Park's racing seasons by Pittsburgh area motorists as a short-cut around Chester traffic.

Commissioners Accept Land Plat

Columbiana County commissioners Thursday accepted the plat of the Imperial Heights Allotment housing development in Unity Township.

The property owned by Ronald B. and Emily P. Mackall, in the southwest quarter of Section 14, consists 5.05 acres divided into 13 lots with 1.3 acres set aside for streets.

A travel allowance was granted Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin to attend a state committee meeting in Columbus today to fight the freeze on admissions to the boys and girls industrial schools, but the event apparently was canceled.

Youth Unhurt As Auto Wrecks

A 21-year-old East Liverpool area youth walked away uninjured from his demolished auto Thursday night near Darlington without reporting the accident, Pennsylvania State Police at Rochester said today.

William James Smith is expected to make a report of the mishap sometime today, officers said after contacting his mother, Mrs. Josephine Smith, 427 College St.

Police said they learned of the accident after the overturned car was spotted at the bottom of a 30-foot embankment on Route 51 north of Darlington.

Officers said Smith already had left when they arrived, but they contacted his mother who said she would notify him to appear today.

How food fads can fool you

We don't mean there's anything wrong with eating yogurt and wheat germ and so on. They are fine, healthful foods. But here's the rub. Advocates of some food fads promise benefits that diet alone can't deliver. Occasionally, someone with a medical problem will try to solve it by living mostly on cabbage juice or some such thing. Special foods and diets, however, have limitation—can be harmful when improperly used. So if you think there's anything wrong with you, by all means see your physician.

Woman Hurt In Collision

A Wellsville area woman received a nose injury when her car rammed the rear of a truck on Route 7 near Rogers in one of three area traffic mishaps Thursday.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said Violet Shollenberger, 26, of Wellsville R. D. 1 was treated by a physician for a bruised nose.

Officers said she was headed south beyond Rogers and had pulled out to pass a truck operated by Richard Wallace, 33, of Lisbon R. D. 3.

Because of approaching traffic, she returned to her own lane but hit the rear of the truck, causing considerable damage to her 1959 sedan, officers said. She was cited for failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

William Grossen, 73, of New Waterford R. D. 1 was treated at Salem City Hospital for abrasions of the leg, arm and head and a laceration of the skull received when his truck hit an embankment on Route 14 a mile east of Route 7 yesterday.

Officers said Grossen lost control on a curve while headed east and the truck left the road.

Charles Fox, 70, of East Rochester was charged with failure to yield the right-of-way after his car and another collided on Route 30 at East Rochester.

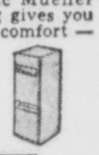

Fox, the patrol said, pulled out of a side street into the path of a car operated by Clyde McDole, 25, of East Rochester, headed west on Route 30.

The former Southern Local Board of Education is slated to meet Monday night at 8 at No. 16 School.

Franklin has maintained a school at Summitville for Grades 1 through 8, sending high school students to other districts.

office open more than two hours after the accustomed 4 p.m. closing time to accept the resolutions.

The majority commissioners declared that three state agencies — the State Health Department, the fire marshal's office and the building inspection division of the Department of Welfare — have complained about the condition of the home. General fund money has been used in past years to help maintain and operate the home, but no more general revenue is available, they said.

In asking the additional funds for current operating expenses, Hunston and Greenisen pointed to declines in year-end balances in the general fund.

The general fund surplus was $300,000 in 1959 and in 1960 it was $254,000, they said. The "Carry-over" into 1961 was $129,000, but at the end of 1962 they estimate the surplus will be $5,000.

If present demands for services continue and revenue holds at the same level, the county would be $298,000 in the red in 1962, Hunston and Greenisen said.

Meanwhile Washingtonville village filed three propositions which it indicated earlier were being considered.

There are two new 2-mill levies — one for operating expenses and one for fire protection — and a third proposition that is a renewal of 1-mill and a reduction of 2-mills for street-lighting purposes.

The ultimate effect of the third proposition would be to cut the street-lighting levy from the present 3 mills to 1 mill. Each proposal would be in effect five years and require a majority for approval.

Yesterday was the deadline for filing propositions for the November election except for fund measures tied to schools or other public buildings.

Yesterday's filings boost to 39 the number of special questions and issues filed or anticipated. Only one expected proposal has not been filed — a Salem question on adoption of a charter plan for city government.

Since attorney general's ruling have held that such a proposal must be filed "in a reasonable time" prior to a general election, this has been interpreted to mean the deadline for a charter plan proposal is 40 days prior to the election. That makes Salem's deadline Sept. 27.

CLEVELAND (AP) — Latecomers have swelled Cleveland's public school enrollment by nearly 1,000 over what it was on opening day last week. The 139,998 total is the highest since the 1935-36 school year.

Skidding Car Strikes Tree

An 18-year-old youth escaped unhurt, but was cited on two charges, after his auto skidded out of control on a Park Way curve Thursday at 2:45 p.m. and went over an embankment, striking a tree.

David W. Bailey of Dixonville faced Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today on charges of illegal auto registration and driving without an operator's permit.

The judge continued both cases until Sept. 22 and instructed Bailey to act in the meantime to obtain a driver's license and to transfer the registration from a car which he previously owned to the the auto which was wrecked yesterday.

Bailey told the judge he bought the auto Aug. 19 with $50 he received in pay while in summer camp as an Army Reserve member. He said he is unemployed. The court ordered Bailey released on his own recognizance, as he had been in jail since he was cited yesterday, unable to raise an appearance bond.

Bailey told police he was driving south on Park Way when the rear of his car began to slide on wet pavement. He attempted to correct the skid, but lost control and the car went over the embankment and hit the tree, he said. The front of the auto was smashed, officers said.

Bettis Blasts Gov. DiSalle

LISBON — In a speech before the Mid-County Republican Club Thursday night, State Rep. J. Warren Bettis lambasted Gov. Michael DiSalle as a governor who wants "to tax and tax, spend and spend, and thereby hopes to elect and elect."

"He will fail in this desire," Rep. Bettis, predicted, citing instances in which he feels Gov. DiSalle has overplayed his hand, declaring that the Ohio public is soon going to "dethrone King Mike."

Atty. Joseph Baronzzi, first vice president, introduced the speaker. Rep. Clarence Wetzel also was a guest.

Mrs. Ray Davies, president, presided for brief business and lunch was served by Dorothy Kettlwell and Mrs. Frank Davies.

Next meeting is Oct. 4 when Mrs. Harold Armstrong of Columbiana will review the best-selling "Conscience of a Conservative" by Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

Police Probe 2 Burglaries, Wallet Theft

East Liverpool police today are investigating burglaries at a downtown home and a Klondyke laundry and theft of a Wellsville woman shopper's wallet containing $29 from a store counter.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Casto, 311½ W. 3rd St., told police premium certificates issued by a supermarket and valued at $16 were taken from a drawer in their kitchen by an intruder who forced entry during their absence Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Casto said they left home at 4 and returned at 7, finding that the intruder had cut or torn a hole in the screen door. Then he entered via the inner door which was left unlocked, they said.

Mrs. Jean Shannon, 825 Broadway, Wellsville, told police her wallet containing $29 was stolen from a counter in the Celli Music Center on St. Clair Ave. about 6 p. m. yesterday. She said she left the wallet on the counter while talking with the proprietor, John Celli, and when she returned it had been stolen.

The wallet contained a $20 bill, a $5, three $1's and $1 in change, plus an auto title and registration card and a driver's license, she said.

Patrolman Jerry Adkins discovered the damage at 5:45 a. m. while on routine patrol. The intruder tore loose the door of the machine, but was unable to open it. There was minor damage to the machine, the officer reported.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Parent Can Help Child In Spelling

What often distresses you and your child's teacher is to see so many misspelled words, often very short and common ones, in his written work. Whether your child is 8, 12 or 15, you want him to acquire a good spelling conscience—to feel unhappy over spelling any word wrong as he writes. You don't want him to guess and spell a word when he's not sure about its correct spelling. When he must write at school he often may not have enough time to look up the word in the dictionary. And the teacher may be too busy to spell the word for him.

Dr. Garry Meyers

ALTHOUGH WE wish the teacher provided more time at school to foster correct spelling in written work, we need not feel time pressures at home. Let us gladly spell a word we can spell when the child doing written work asks us to. When we can't spell the word, let us look it up in the dictionary with him.

If we have a companionable relation with this child, he will incline to look up the spelling of more and more words himself.

It's all very well to help him cultivate the dictionary habit. But if in half - angry tones we often say, "Look it up yourself in the dictionary," he may look for it this time but let it go on a guess next time he is doubtful about a word.

As a rule, I would gladly spell a word for the child doing his homework, whether he is seven or 17. I would be happy that he was eager to spell it correctly and loathe to guess at its spelling.

THE STRATEGIC place for cultivating a good spelling conscience is at home when a child is studying a list of words in order to spell them. Often he will not look carefully at the word right before his eyes. Sometimes he will spell it wrong while looking at it. More often he will spell it wrong by looking away and trying himself out too soon.

About the worst thing he can do is to write it wrong after spelling it once. Another wasteful way is for him to spell it just once while looking at it, then going to the next word.

The secret of learning to spell well is to stick to one word and to spell it correctly while looking right at it over and over until it is mastered.

If your child falters on a word he is spelling aloud or gets one letter wrong, have him try no farther. Mark that word to have him study it by looking at it later. Or right then and there have him, while carefully looking at the word, learn its correct spelling.

DO ANYTHING you can to cause him to keep from spelling any word he is not sure about, to keep him from spelling it wrong. Avoid the temptation to have him keep trying to spell the word from memory until he gets it right and thus practice him in guessing and spelling incorrectly.

My bulletins, "Home Fun with Phonics" and "Home Helps for Poor Spellers," may be had by sending a self - addressed stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. Do you have a suggestion on how to make the sails for my boy's model ships?

A. If it is hard to find cloth that is sufficiently fine to use for these sails, ordinary draftsman's tracing cloth, with the stiffening ingredient boiled out, is excellent for the purpose. Being thin and closely woven, it looks like real sailcloth "scaled down." It should be lightly starched and ironed before being cut to size.

Q. Is there any way I can "camouflage" the small cracks or checks in chinaware?

A. You can make these almost unnoticeable if the dishes are boiled in sweet milk for about three quarters of an hour.

Q. How can I make a new tag for a shoe lace?

A. If the tag comes off the end of the shoe lace, press a little melted paraffin, or black sealing wax, around the end of the lace and shape it to form a tag.

Wayne Tour Set By Poultrymen

Those desiring to double-up in transportation may meet at 9 a. m. at the Damascus Friends Church parking lot.

Other locations to be inspected are Loyal and Charles Hostetler, south of Smithville; Harry McGinn, northwest of Madisonburg; Ray Gortner, southeast of New Pittsburg; Dwight Martin, southwest of Lattasburg, and Jerry Ladrach, south of Rittman.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Thin Girls Should Keep Vacation Appetite

Thin girls, pull up a rocker, and let's take the calories from your angle today. Following vacation is the perfect time to eat to build curves.

Ida Jean Kain

The scales may or may not show a gain at the end of summer, even though you have been eating heartily. Don't let that discourage you, for by continuing with good meals you will slowly but surely begin to pick up needed pounds.

The fall of the year is an excellent time for a physical check-up. Make an appointment with a good medical man and find out if you are anemic or have some minor infection that is pulling you down.

Do you have a normally good appetite? Appetite comes with eating . . . by having good meals at regular times, you build an appetite for food at those hours.

IT IS MOST important for the thin person to eat meals on schedule. You know yourself that when you go beyond mealtime, your interest in food wanes.

Just as there are formula diets on the market to help overweights reduce, there are dietary mixtures containing booster nutrients to help underweights gain.

Your dietitian experimented to see if such products did stimulate appetite. I added a protein-mineral-vitamin supplement to my milk at lunch and again at my afternoon snack. To my enormous surprise, I had to get up at midnight to eat. I was starved . . . all I could think of was food. This practice had to stop!

Thin girls, in order to put a little meat on your bones, daily calories must exceed your fuel requirements. It takes high quality nutrition, plus extra calories, for gaining. Certain nutrients aid in the assimilation of foods.

This is the purpose of the booster nutrients furnished in protein supplements. Your stepped - up appetite will make you want more food.

If you smoke, be sure to confine your smoking to the end of the meal since it dulls appetite. Also, avoid excess coffee drinking.

Analyze the meal at which you slight good nutrition, and improve the meal. One underweight, unable to eat breakfast, hit upon this plan: She walked part way to work and then stopped to order breakfast. After she had built up an appetite for breakfast she had not eaten at home.

ANOTHER skinny gal succeeded in gaining by reserving her lunch hour for eating and relaxing. No more shopping! When the weather was fine, she sat in the park.

Thin girls, you have everything to gain by improving your nutrition. Find ways to do it.

Send a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope for "Grade A Nutrition For Gaining." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Postcard requests cannot be answered.

Governor Sets Date Of Schuck Execution

BEAVER — Gov. David Lawrence has set the week of Oct. 23 for the execution of Arthur Grover Schuck of Baden who was convicted in the 1958 murder of Vincent J. Quigley.

It will be the first since Robert Lee Williams of Pittsburgh was electrocuted Oct. 28, 1959.

Gov. Lawrence declared a moratorium on executions earlier this year pending outcome of legislation to abolish capital punishment. The bill died in a Senate committee.

The governor also fixed execution dates for James Cater and George Lee Rivers of Philadelphia, who were involved in the March 1957 killing of Lewis Viner, a Philadelphia druggist.

South Side holds First Assembly

Man's flight into space was the subject for the first assembly program of the South Side Junior-Senior High School near Hookstown this morning.

"Communications In Project Mercury" was the topic of an illustrated talk by J. R. Rohleder of the Bell Telephone Co. Color slides of the launching area, capsule and control center were explained in detail to the students of Grades 7-12.

Mrs. Marie Elliott, chairman of the school's Science Department, introduced Rohleder. A question-and-answer period followed.

Northwestern University Varsity Marching Band movies were shown the student body. This was the first of a series of assemblies planned to enrich the curriculum on all levels of the school, sponsors said.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Today was my birthday. When my husband left for work he didn't say anything. I thought for sure I would receive some sort of surprise during the day. Nothing happened.

When he came from work, still nothing. Finally after dinner I said to him, "Do you know what day it is?"

He said, "Of course, it's Friday."

I asked, "Is there anything SPECIAL about this Friday?"

He answered, "Yeah, there was less smog than usual."

After about an hour I decided if I didn't say something I'd blow up, so I screamed, "TODAY IS MY BIRTHDAY!" His comment was, "I knew it was some time in September but the day always slips my mind. Buy a nice present for yourself, Honey, and give me the bill."

I'm hurt, angry and disappointed. What shall I do? — GEORGE'S WIFE.

Dear Wife: Buy yourself a nice present and give him the bill.

She Was Lucky

Dear Ann: I'm an average-looking stenographer, age 20, and I live at home with my parents, which I'm beginning to think is a big mistake.

Last night when I got out of the office the rain was coming down very hard. I stood on the curb trying to hail a taxi for about 15 minutes — soaked to the skin. Dozens of taxis passed me — all occupied.

Finally a nice-looking car stopped and the man at the wheel looked respectable. He opened the car door and asked if he could give me a lift. He drove me straight home after some polite conversation. I thanked him and that's all there was to it.

My mother asked how I got home and when I told her she blew up. Ordinarily I would never accept a ride with a stranger but under the circumstances I feel it was all right. Do you agree? — BERNICE.

Dear Bernice: Under no circumstances is it all right to get into a stranger's car. You were fortunate that the man was harmless and that he drove you straight home "after some polite conversation." Few girls who accept pickups are so lucky.

The newspapers have reported many tragedies which resulted from similar incidents. You were a whole lot luckier than smart. Never again, Toots.

Mail Is Private

Dear Ann: Is it all right for a wife to open mail which is addressed to her husband? This matter has been unresolved in our home for 10 years. You are going to settle it.

I was raised never to open mail which was not addressed to me. In my wife's family the first person to get his hands on the mail opened everything. My wife knows it irritates me when she opens my mail but she continues to do it. I still do not open hers.

She claims you will be on her side because your column makes a strong point that in a good marriage there are no secrets. How about this? — VERDICT WANTED.

Dear Wanted; Your wife loses, Mail is private property. People of integrity wouldn't dream of opening a letter addressed to someone else.

In a solid marriage, there are no secrets. But the information is offered freely and willingly. It isn't obtained by beating one another to the mailbox.

Confidentially

TO SAS: This in a fine time to send out an SOS. The ship has already gone down, Toots. See a lawyer.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Zelch In TV Debut Saturday . . .

Watch for No. 31 to flash across your screen Saturday in the nationally-televised Pitt-Miami game from Florida.

The wearer of that number will be Dave Zelch of East Liverpool, a standout on the 1959 Potter football team, who will be making his debut on the Hurricane's varsity squad in the Orange Bowl. Game time is 4:30 p. m.

Zelch, a 180-pounder now, has shown up well on defense, according to the Miami coaching staff and will get some spot assignments at a linebacker position, according to present plans

Zelcn was an outstanding defensive player for the Potters and ran offensively from a halfback post.

Dave, a sophomore, is the second East Liverpool gridder to play for Miami. Ed Oliver, everybody's all-state choice in 1952, was the first.

TOM BROOKS

Brooks At N. Carolina U . . .

ANOTHER DISTRICT gridder seeking a starting berth on a big-time college eleven is Tom Brooks of Lisbon.

Brooks, a sophomore like Zelch, is a member of the University of North Carolina team and head coach Jim Hickey says "he is about our fastest back and could become the breakaway runner we need."

At present, Tom, a former pupil of Bud Bucher's, has his work cut out for him. He is running with the fourth unit at right half, with the three ahead of him being more experienced.

He has been clocked in 9.9 in the 100-yard dash and is expected to be a mainstay on the Tar Heels track team next spring. Besides the football field, Brooks is also oustanding in the classroom and is majoring in chemistry. He was an honor student at Lisbon High.

North Carolina U. scouts spotted Brooks in the now defunct Pennsylvania-Ohio All-Star game played in East Liverpool in 1960. It didn't take them long to make up their minds. They were on his doorstep the very next day urging him to attend North Carolina.

Baldwin, who was headed for Memphis State, changed his mind several weeks ago and landed at the Northwestern Ohio school.

BILL MAYHEW, one of the finest backs to come out of Chester High School in many a season, is making a strong bid to fill a halfback post at Geneva College. A sophomore this season, Mayhew saw considerable action during the 1960 campaign.

—:—

TURNING to basketball, Ray Bigelow, who performed for the Potters two years ago, has transferred from Toledo University to Steubenville College.

Ray will be eligible in the second semester towards the end of January and should give Coach Wayne Smith's team a good inside punch. A teammate of Ray's will be Wellsville's Dan Baldwin, who was a member of the Steubenville College squad last season.

Wade Leaves Racing . . .

ONE OF the finest men in horse racing is leaving the game. When the final race is run Saturday at Waterford Park, Horace Wade officially will end his association with the Hancock County track and step out of racing for the first time in 25 years.

We believe that he will come back to racing in the future, but for the present he plans to complete his new novel "The Night Riders," a story about the South.

Wade was tabbed the "miracle man of racing" for development of many other tracks, including Monmouth Park, Gulfstream Park and Hazel Park. He made improvements at Waterford Park, with this year showing an increase in both wagering and attendance.

However, Wade began losing interest and the fact that he didn't see eye-to-eye on the policies of other Waterford officials led to his resignation.

Wellsville, Beavers Picked . . .

OUR LEDGER for last week on the art of predicting football games shows 7 right, 4 wrong and 2 ties.

Although the score was off on the East Liverpool-Niles game, the predicted spread of 40 points was correct, we're sorry to say.

After another look into the crystal ball, the following scores popped up. Lisbon was a surprise winner over Carrollton but we feel Wellsville deserves to be a slight favorite over the Blue Devils, but not by much. It looks like Wellsville 22, Lisbon 14.

In a big local rivalry at Chester tonight, experience should pay off for Beaver Local. It looks like Beaver Local 33, Chester 13.

Midland is due for a victory, but must tighten its defenses on an offensive-minded Canon-McMillan team. Midland 27, Canon-McMillan 20.

East Palestine will find Beaver a little tougher than Canfield was last week, but the Bulldogs should prevail with a 14-6 victory.

In other contests, we like Paul Conrad & Co. (Leetonia) over Rootstown, 27-14; Columbiana 22, McDonald 6; Salem 20, Youngstown North 0, and Avella 32, South Side 14.

Saturday, United 36, Crestview 6 and Stanton Local 22, Mt. Pleasant 12.

Second Scrimmage Scheduled For Bucks

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State's football team holds its second scrimmage today, hoping to erase some of the faults that showed up in movies after Wednesday's first scrimmage.

The Buckeyes have the weekend off, and after Monday they will drill only once a day instead of twice a day.

Quits Browns Post

CLEVELAND (AP) — Edward J. Coen, publicity director of the Cleveland Barons the past 14 years, has resigned to accept a similar position at Northfield Park in Northfield.

N. Cumberland Whips Newell, 39-0

Soph Star Nets 3 Touchdowns

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

A brilliant young sophomore, Alan Pettit, raced for three touchdowns to turn New Cumberland's strong ground and air assault into a 39-0 victory Thursday night at Newell.

Some 800 fans braved a first half rain shower to see Coach John Kuzio's squad score in every period and blank its county rival.

The Blue Raiders were on the rebound from a 6-0 loss in their opener with Northwestern last week and had a field day in registering their first victory of the young campaign.

Meanwhile, Newell dropped its second straight contest and failed to get any closer than the New Cumberland 39-yard line last night.

A light rain caused the ball handling to be tough for both teams. Newell fumbled four times with New Cumberland recovering the ball on each occassion.

The other touchdown was registered by junior end Ken Freshwater who took a 47-yard pass from quarterback Allen Katzenmeyer.

Bursky opened the scoring with about five minutes gone in the first quarter by racing 25 yards to the end zone on a drive that started from the Newell 49. A placement attempt failed.

New Cumberland pushed two TD's across in the second period with Pettit netting both tallies.

The young speedster raced wide around the left side and outran Newell defenders by going 42 yards for the touchdown. Katzenmeyer added his first of three straight placements.

LATE IN the second quarter, a 23-yard run by Katzenmeyer set up the third Raider touchdown. New Cumberland, with a first down on the Newell 3-yard line, sent Pettit around the right side for the remaining distance and his second TD. Katzenmeyer's accurate toe made it 20-0 at halftime.

It took New Cumberland only four plays in the second half and the team from the county seat was scoring again. This time it came on the accurate arm of Katzenmeyer who hit Freshwater on the Newell 25 and the junior end legged the remaining yardage for the touchdown.

With less than a minute remaining in the third quarter, a fumble set up another Raider touchdown with Bursky going around the left side for a 16-yard touchdown run.

PETTIT'S final touchdown was the most electrifying of the evening. The 150-pounder picked a Newell fumble out of the air on the Raider 35-yard line and streaked 65 yards for the touchdown.

New Cumberland showed a 10-6 edge in first downs and picked up 174 yards on the ground. Katzenmeyer, a deadly passer, completed five out of nine for 115 yards and one touchdown.

Coach Pete Horoszko's Vikings couldn't get a drive started. They picked up 96 yards rushing, but were thrown for 43 yards in losses.

Quarterback Mick Staley attempted 10 passes and completed five, mostly for short gainers for a total of 52 yards.

Halfback Ed Weirsbecki again was the leading ground gainer for Newell and stood out on several defensive plays.

MICKEY MANTLE throws his hat toward his bench after hitting into a force play in the eighth inning, forcing his teammate Roger Maris at second base in the second game of a doubleheader Thursday night at Chicago. Two of the hottest acts in baseball—Maris and Mantle—were stopped in Chicago as both went without home runs in three games. Maris has 56 and Mantle 53. The White Sox took both ends of the twinbill, 8-3 and 4-3. New York moves on to Detroit, meeting the Tigers in a twi-night doubleheader tonight. (UPI Telephoto)

Associated Press Sports Writer

Babe Ruth can catch Roger Maris tonight.

That's the situation that faces Maris for the first time this season as he moves his assault on the Bambino's home-run record to Detroit, where the American League-leading New York Yankees will be trying to clinch their 11th pennant in the last 13 years.

Maris, with 56 homers and a one-game edge over Ruth's record 60 pace of 1927, heads into the Detroit twi-nighter with a five game homer drought after the Chicago White Sox held him to three singles in an 8-3 and 4-3 doubleheader sweep over the Yankees Thursday.

"I think I've still got a chance—if I can get hot in Detroit," said Maris. "I haven't given up. I like to hit in Detroit. Maybe I'll get hot there."

Teammate Mickey Mantle, with 53 homers, said after the White Sox twinbill that he was "about ready to give up. I don't see how I can make it now. I haven't got a chance now—even in 162 games."

Despite the doubleheader loss, the Yankees reduced their magic pennant-clinching number when the second place Tigers lost to Kansas City 5-2, and can wrap up the flag by taking three of four from Detroit. The Tigers are 10½ games back in the standings.

In the only other AL games scheduled Thursday, Los Angeles beat Minnesota 5-1 in the opener of a doubleheader, then lost the nightcap 3-1.

In the National League the second-place Los Angeles Dodgers defeated Pittsburgh 7-6 and moved within five games of the first-place Cincinnati Reds, who were idle. Philadelphia beat San Francisco 4-3 in 10 innings and St. Louis defeated Chicago twice, 8-7 and 6-5 in 11 innings.

The White Sox snapped the Yankees 13-game winning streak, their longest of the season, when Floyd Robinson smacked a two-run homer and Jim Landis hit a three-run shot off rookie Rollie Sheldon (9-5) in the first inning. Ray Herbert (10-12) won it with relief help from Billy Pierce and Warren Hacker in the late innings.

The Yankees took a 3-0 lead in the seventh inning of the nightcap on Elston's Howard's two-run homer, singles by Bill Skowron and Hec Lopez and Clete Boyer's sacrifice fly. But the White Sox scored three in the ninth after two were out to hang the first defeat on relief specialist Luis Arroyo since June 19.

Wayne Causey hit a home run for the A's and saved Bob Shaw (11-12) with a diving catch of Jake Wood's liner in the eighth for an inning-ending doubleplay that stopped the Tigers after they had one run in and two men on. Dick Brown drove in both Detroit runs with a single before Causey's play and a seventh inning homer. Paul Foytack (10-10) was the loser.

Yesterday's Stars

Pitching — Jim Kaat, Twins, hurled three-hitter for 3-1 victory over Angels in second game of doubleheader.

Hitting—Ken Boyer, Cardinals, was 7-for-11 and drove in five runs in 8-7 and 6-5 triumphs over Cubs, winning the nightcap with a homer in the 11th inning.

College Season Gets Underway

Pitt, Miami Top Openers

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The 1961 college football season opens Saturday with a rather subdued fare the first time out this year.

But they'll show the nation a couple of interesting teams on television and begin a couple of hectic conference battles right away.

Pitt's Panthers, considered one of the East's top independents, and always-interesting Miami (Fla.) kick off the proceedings Saturday afternoon in Miami's Orange Bowl. This game is the first of the weekly televised games, beginning at 4:15 p.m., Eastern Daylight Time, ABC-TV.

Three of the four Missouri Valley conference members are in action while Eastern independent Villanova plays Miami (Ohio), in a night game. Big Eight member Iowa State, sparked by halfback Dave Hoppman, plays intrastate rival Drake.

Missouri Valley champion Withita is at Toledo for a night game. Cincinnati hosts Dayton and Tulsa entertains Hardin-Simmons, also both at night.

Utah State, 1960 Skyline champ with a 9-1 mark, opens against Texas Western at night, while this year's Skyline favorite, Wyoming, plays Montana at Billings, Mont. in the afternoon. A third Skyline game pits Colorado State U. at Utah in a night game.

Machen And DeJohn Will Tangle Saturday

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Eddie Machen and Mike DeJohn, a couple of veteran heavyweights, clash in a return bout Saturday night at the War Memorial Auditorium.

The 10-rounder will be telecast (ABC 9 p.m., EST) coast to coast.

Machen, conqueror of DeJohn last April, is an 8-5 favorite to make it two straight over the 29-year-old Syracuse puncher.

Machen, 29, from Portland, Ore., is ranked fourth among the contenders.

Snider's Pinch-Hit Homer Keeps Dodgers' Hopes Alive

Pirates Nipped, 7-6, In 9th Frame

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Duke Snider, 35, a gray-haired veteran among a talented group of fuzzy-cheeked youngsters, has kept alive the Los Angeles Dodgers' flickering hopes of overtaking the Cincinnati Reds in the National League pennant scramble. Snider did it with a three-run pinch-hit homer in the last of the 9th that beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 7-6 Thursday night and moved the second-place Dodgers within five games of the league-leading Reds, who were idle.

The Dodger victory left the Reds' magic number at nine. Any combination of nine Cincinnati victories and-or Los Angeles defeats will give the Reds their first NL flag since 1940.

Wes Covington's second homer of the game in the 10th inning gave Philadelphia a 4-3 victory over San Francisco and pushed the Giants into fourth place behind idle Milwaukee. St. Louis took a doubleheader from the Chicago Cubs, 8-7 and 6-5 in 11 innings.

In the American League, Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle were held homerless as the Chicago White Sox whipped the first-place New York Yankees 8-3 and 4-3. Kansas City beat second-place Detroit 5-2. Minnesota and Los Angeles split, the Angels winning the opener 5-1 and the Twins taking the nightcap 3-1.

The Dodgers trailed 6-3 going into the ninth, but started acting up when Ron Fairly singled, Wally Moon walked and Frank Howard chased reliever Clem Labine with a run-producing single. Elroy Face came in, tagged out Tommy Davis on a sacrifice play, then got two strikes by Snider before the Duke sent one over the right field fence.

That gave the win to Ed Roebuck. Face, who was making his 58th appearance as the fourth Pirate pitcher, is 6-10.

Covington's second homer won it for Phils' starter John Buzhardt (6-16) and tagged Dick Lemay (3-6), with the loss after the Giants had tied it in the sixth on Willie Mays' 38th homer, with one on.

Carry Back Favored In U.N. Race

By JOHN CHANDLER

Carry Back, most everyone's choice for the 3-year-old championship, and the winners of three recent races for 2-year-olds will strut their stuff Saturday at Atlantic City and Belmont Park.

There are two big races on the weekend program, the invitational $100,000 United Nations Handicap on the Atlantic City grass course, and the Futurity at Belmont Park.

Six juveniles are expected to go in the Futurity, which would boost its value to $140,270. Jaipur, Sir Gaylord and Green Ticket are the big names — all having won $100,000-plus races recently.

Carry Back, owned by Mrs. Jack Price of Miami, meets older horses in the 1 3-16 mile United Nations, and he's listed as the 8-5 choice to win his fifth $100,000 affair of the year. Twelve are listed to go in the ninth running of the U.N.

Carry Back won the Kentucky Derby, Preakness, Flamingo and Florida Derby before suffering an injury and finishing seventh in the Belmont Stakes. He's the leading money winner of the year with $490,000.

Wolfram is top weighted with 127 pounds, against 123 for Carry Back.

The U.N. will be televised 4:30-5 p.m. EST (CBS)

Green Ticket from Adele L. Rand's stable won the other $100,000 race among the big three in the Futurity. It was the World's Playground Stakes last Saturday at Atlantic City.

'Thought About It'

M-Boys Strictly On Own; Houk Holds Lineup Order

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

DETROIT (AP)—New York Manager Ralph Houk will not move Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle to the top of the batting order to help them in their struggle to break Babe Ruth's home run record. The M-boys will be strictly on their own.

Houk acknowledged today he had given thought to placing Maris in the leadoff spot and Mantle right behind him if the Yankees clinch the American League pennant. After deliberating the matter, Houk decided against this revolutionary move, which would have given the sluggers several additional times at bat.

"Nobody is more anxious than I for them to break the record," said the manager. "By the same token, I don't think they should receive any special favors in order to make the job easier for them."

Maris, with 56 homers in 148 games (including one tie), is only one ahead of Ruth's record 60 pace of 1927 and must hit four in the next seven decisions to tie the Bambino's mark in 154 games. Mantle, with 53 home runs, fell five games back of the Babe.

Houk was not at all sure that moving his two top sluggers higher up in the batting order would help them.

"First of all," he said, "they would be coming up more often with the bases empty and therefore would be more apt to be walked. Second, a move like that might anger the pitchers and make them more determined not to give Roger and Mickey anything within hitting range.

"Even more important is consideration for the other clubs. Some of them will still be battling for positions."

'Maybe A Little Bit Better'

Hayes Says OSU Improved Over '60, Lauds Warfield

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—There are always two things predictable about Ohio State football.

One is that Buckeyes Coach Woody Hayes is completely unpredictable in his public comments.

The other is that Hayes' hard-belting Bucks are constant challengers for Big Ten and national honors with primarily Ohio-grown talent.

Hayes startled a score of "Skywriter" scribes touring Big Ten camps with the first hint by a top football source that the college grid ranks will soon be dragged into the "rigging" gambling scandal that has marred college basketball.

Then Hayes told the "Skywrtiers" he resented the loss of time to talk to them when he could be better occupied with counseling Buckeye reserves who might be tempted to quit his squad in discouragement.

He also disparaged ratings of teams, asserting any football coach knows games are won on the field. "I don't think polls can possibly help a team," he said.

In the recent Associated Press pre-season poll of writing experts, Big Ten co-champion Iowa was rated No. 1 in the nation and Ohio State was runnerup.

However, Hayes, who shifts conversational gears swiftly, said, "Don't think there is any question but that Iowa should be rated No. 1." He added that Ohio State "definitely" should be rated in the first division of the Big Ten.

Here is Hayes' analysis of his Buckeye squad minus five starters from the 1960 club which had a 7-2 overall mark and was third in the Bgi Ten with a 4-2 record:

"We will compare about the same as last year, maybe a little bit better. We have as much or a little more speed than last year. We don't anticipate many injuries because we're in good shape. The team has one thing going for them—they have a mean coach."

Ohio State's problems, on the surface, appear to be at quarterback where versatile Tom Matte must be replaced, and the interior of the line which must be rebuilt.

"He's a real competitor with ice water in his veins," said Haye

Th econversation piece among Buckeye fans is 182-pound sophomore Paul Warfield, boomed as Ohio State's best break-way threat since Hopalong Cassady.

"He's going to be a good one," said Hayes.

Youngsters, Vet In Semi's Of Amateur

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Three youngsters and a veteran moved into the semifinals of the National Amateur golf tournament today.

The 36-hole matches over the Pebble Beach Course pitted ex-champ Jack Nicklaus of Ohio against Louisiana State's Sonny Methvin while Joe Carr of Dublin, Ireland tangled with Dud Wysong of McKinney, Tex. The 36-hole final is Saturday.

Nicklaus and Methvin both are 22 and Wysong 22. Carr, three times the British champion and trying to win a title none of his countrymen have held since 1911, looks as the old timer at 39.

Methvin beat Charlie Smith of Winstonia, N.C., 5 and 4 in Thursday's quarter-finals. Nicklaus disposed of another Louisiana State University golfer, Sam Carmichael, 3 and 1.

Carr sank a 30-foot putt on the 19th hole to edge former Purdue star Gene Francis, 23, from East Williston, N.Y., 1-up. Wysong quickly dispatched Richy Norville of Oklahoma City 6 and 5.

5-3 Double Pays $71; Meet To End Saturday

The lucky numbers Thursday at Waterford Park were 5 and 3 for a daily double worth $71.20.

A crowd of 2,370 watched Aganaboston, steered expertly by Roy Cave, open with a victory in the first race and return $17.20, $8.40 and $5.60.

Aganaboston was coupled with Easter Connie, a heavy favorite in the second race, which paid $5.20, $4 and $3. Jose Olivares was aboard the winner.

The featured seventh race went to Charlesgate with jockey Charles Clark aboard. Picking up a late victory with a vicious stretch drive, Charlesgate returned $3.60, $2.80 and $2.20.

Another eight-race card will be run today with post time at 4:15. Waterford Park will complete its 62-day meeting Saturday with the first race at 2 p.m.

IGGY KATONA
Favored At Canfield.

Canfield 300 Is Set Sunday

Iggy Katona of Lambertsville, Mich., a 26-year veteran of auto racing will rate among the favorites in the "Canfield 300" Sunday afternoon at Canfield Speedway.

A three - time MARC national champ, Katona will come to Canfield fresh from a victory at Detroit. He will be driving a 1961 Ford. Katona last appeared at Canfield on Memorial Day and ran third behind Harold Smith of Dayton and Ed Lindsay of Baltimore in the 100-mile grind.

On Sept. 24, the MARC new cards will duel in a 150-lap race over the big track and at least 35 cars will start. Time trials will begin at noon and the big race will get under way at 2:30 p. m.

Harlan Richardson of Houston, Texas, is another of the top MARC stars appearing. In his first year under MARC, Richardson has made quite a name for himself in the Midwest and he will be piloting his 1961 Ford.

Smith will be trying for a repeat win and to maintain his national point-leadership in the new car division. However, he won't have his familiar Chevrolet. Last Sunday Smith "totaled out" his car while running in first place. However, he was not hurt and will race at Canfield in a 1961 Pontiac.

About One Dozen Seen For Little Brown Jug

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP) — The nation's niftiest sidewheelers are all set for next Thursday's $70,000 Little Brown Jug pace for 3-year-olds at the Delaware County Fairgrounds.

About a dozen are expected to go in the 16th annual classic over the lightning-fast half-mile oval where "juggers" have picked up purses of $888,070.03 in the last 15 years.

The Grand Circuit session opens Monday, and the four-day program figures to hand out $153,000 to the winning drivers in a 16-race set.

Fresh from a surprise conquest in the Cane Pace at Yonkers, N. Y., first leg of pacing's triple trophy, Cold Front will be among the Jug favorites. Clint Hodgins will pilot the Cane winner, property of the Stonybrook Stable of Yonkers. Hodgins won the 1959 Jug with Adios Butler, only pacer ever to win the triple crown.

Despite finishing a dismal ninth in the Cane, the probable odds-on Jug favorite will be Adios Don, who won $77,607 as a 2-year-old for owners Jane and Harold Large of Garden City, Long Island. Until the Cane, Adios Don had won 9 of 12 starts this year, and his 1:58 4-5 is the third fastest of the year by a 3-year-old pacer.

Others seeking to succeed Bullet Hanover as the Jug champion include Lang Hanover, Adiosand, Henry T. Adios, Brooks Hanover and Way Wave—the latter a filly.

No filly has ever taken the big race, but three have won heats, and Way Wave's 1:58 at Du Quoin, Ill., is the season's second best.

Lang Hanover has the year's top clocking, 1:57 4-5, set at Springfield, Ill., and Ohioans probably will back him to the limit. He's the property of Samuel Huttenbauer of Cincinnati. He will be driven by Jim (Rocky) Hackett of London, Ohio. Only one Buckeye owner has taken the big prize, and only one Ohio reinsman has driven a winner.

Keystoner won the 1953 running for George Tipling of Cleveland, and T. Wayne (Curly) Smart of Delaware subbed for ailing Sep Palin to drive Ensign Hanover to victory in the 1946 inaugural. Smart also rode the sulky in 1952 as Meadow Rice romped in for the big money.

The exact size of the field will not be determined until Tuesday when the owners drop the $500 starting fee into the box.

Collins Leading In Seattle Golf

SEATTLE (AP) — Bill Collins of Miami, Fla., led the way into the second round of the $25,000 Greater Seattle Open Tournament today with a two-stroke edge.

While slim Bill was shaving six strokes off the Broadmoor Golf Club's par 70 Thursday, however, little-known Miller Barber of El Dorado, Ark., stole the spotlight with a hole-in-one where it counted most.

Barber sank a two-iron tee shot on the seventh hole, a feat for which the tourney sponsors had posted a $10,000 prize. All the cash goes to Barber unless another golfer duplicates the shot in the next three days of play to earn a share in the prize.

Dave Hill of Denver, maintaining the pace that earned him first place last week in the Denver Open, was two strokes behind Collins at 66. He shared second spot with Al Balding of Toronto and Jacky Cupit of Longview, Tex.

Seven professionals, Barber among them, were tied at 67.

Illness Outbreak Might Sideline Some Of Browns

CLEVELAND (AP) — An outbreak of illness may keep some Cleveland Browns' players on the sidelines in the season opener against the Philadelphia Eagles at Franklin Field Sunday.

Stricken with a flu-like illness thus far are Ray Renfro, Paul Wiggin, Don Fleming and Milt Plum. Coach Paul Brown was worried players on the squad might become victims of the outbreak.

The Browns took out some insurance at offensive tackle Thursday. Erroll Linden, 6-foot-5, 255-pound rookie from Houston, was obtained from the Detroit Lions as a draft choice. He was placed on the injured reserve list for at least a month until a leg injury heals.

By the time Linden is eligible to the active roster, Brown said, he expects to know the military status of veteran tackle Dick Lafrath, an Air Force reservist. The coach indicated he would keep a close eye on the progress of Ed Nutting, rookie offensive tackle from Georgia Tech.

Reds' Take Another Day Off, Hutch Rests Pitching Staff

CINCINNATI (AP) — The National League - leading Cincinnati Reds have another day of rest ahead of them before winding up their season's games with the Philadelphia Phillies this weekend.

The Reds' last game ended in a 1-0 victory over the third-place Milwaukee Braves Wednesday night. The Reds are five games ahead of the Los Angeles Dodgers, who beat Pittsburgh 7-6 Thursday night.

Two Cincinnati farm hands are expected to be in the lineup against the Phils Saturday night—outfielder Joe Gaines and third baseman Cliff Cook from the Indianapolis Indians. They were called up Thursday.

Manager Fred Hutchinson, who has praised his September schedule because it gives Cincinnati pitchers plenty of time to rest between games, has named Bob Purkey (16-10) and Ken Johnson (6 - 2) as his starting pitchers against Philadelphia.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

That Was No Ghost, It Was Pat Weaver

Vice presidents and page boys at NBC thought they were looking at a ghost when Sylvester (Pat) Weaver came striding down the studio hallway.

Hal Humphrey

It has been nearly six years since Weaver was eased out of NBC's president, and that was a black day for TV.

Even his enemies concede that under his stewardship TV saw more innovations and experienced more excitement than the medium has had since he left it.

But NBC, and all of TV for that matter, was afraid of Weaver and his "wild ideas" like "Wide Wide World," "Today," "Project 20" and "spectaculars."

THE MEDIUM'S big executives felt safer with the half-hour comedies, cops-and-robbers and cowboy shows. And because the ratings said that more people watched these latter "bread-and-butter" programs, the sponsor decided he must be selling more chewing gum with them.

Weaver's visit to NBC last week was in his new capacity as president of McCann-Erickson productions, the ad agency's TV-radio division. One of its clients is Westinghouse, which is sponsoring 18 TV specials and splitting them among the three networks this season. The first of these is "Sound of the '60s," produced by Dore Schary and Hubbell Robinson, and airing on NBC Oct. 9.

Weaver was in Hollywood to see how the production was coming, and renew old acquaintances. He doesn't seem bitter nor surprised over TV's present state of flabbiness.

-:-

"I PREDICTED that the networks would follow each other downhill with their programming," says Weaver. "When you have only three buyers — I mean the networks — and one supplier of B pictures, which is Hollywood, the result is predictable.

"The trouble is, it isn't television, because television can take you anywhere. You've got to have forms that satisfy the whole picture.

"Even the sponsors are realizing this. A friend of mine, who happens to be one of the blue chip sponsors in television, told me recently that unless the medium offers more than it has, this is his last year in it."

WEAVER DOESN'T subscribe to the theory that better programming must wait for sponsors with a better developed social consciousness. When he refers to TV "forms that satisfy the whole picture," he is talking about programs that can both sell goods and offer viewers a cultural uplift.

"I have a plan which would give a client quality without his product having to suffer from the lower rating, but I can't discuss it now. Don't forget, ad agencies are no longer in the production of television," says Weaver, grinning.

Soon after Weaver surrendered at NBC in 1956, he tried to set up an independent TV service to give to network-affiliated stations a type of program no longer furnished by the network itself.

He signed Sid Caesar and "Ding Dong School" and got virtually no further. The affiliates, at least at that time, didn't see the need for anything but what the networks gave them.

FOR THE PAST three years Weaver has been chairman of Corp., a post which took him out of the country and away from TV.

If I were making a prediction, it would be that Pat Weaver is going to be calling the signals for one of the major networks before the 1962-62 TV season begins.

He reports that one unnamed network already has asked him to furnish it with an idea for a big show like his ole NBC "Comedy Hour." Of course, Weaver never comes up with an idea "like" ones he already has had, but it was evident that he was happy go go to work on it.

"After three years," says Weaver, "I'm ready to make another run at these bozos."

$500 Proceeds Netted In Bazaar

Proceeds of $500, to be used for the Chester City Park Community Building, were netted in the three-day bazaar held last week, Harold Dickey, Park Commission chairman, reported.

Proceeds were counted at a meeting Wednesday evening of the commission, the bazaar committee and representatives of organizations which participated in the affair.

Dickey said a special meeting of the commission will be held tonight at 7:30 at City Hall to decide on a proposal of the Post Office Department to purchase land at the entrance to the park. The government has offered $10,000 for the land for a post office site.

Dickey said an electric drinking fountain has been installed in the Community Building, furnished by the Women's Civic Club as a memorial for Mrs. Eva Johnston. He said the club plans to place a plaque on the fountain later.

NAACP Officer Cited In Embezzling Case

LORAIN, Ohio (AP)—Mrs. Eula Spencer of Lorain, treasurer of the Lorain branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, has been accused of embezzling $1,363.32 from the group's funds.

According to Floyd Harris, assistant county prosecutor, Mrs. Spencer has returned $472 to the NAACP account over the last three weeks. The warrant accusing Mrs. Spencer was signed by Jack Rutledge, branch president, who said an audit revealed the shortage. Mrs. Spencer became treasurer in January, 1960.

Fund Plea Launched By Child Health Clinic

Letters will be placed in the mail Saturday asking contributions to help support activities of the Child Health Clinic.

Officials of the Business and Professional Women's Club, which sponsors the clinic, said about 250 individuals are being contacted in the annual fund drive. The letters are going to residents of East Liverpool, Wellsville, Chester and Newell, communities served by the clinic.

Hundreds of underprivileged children up to 6 years old have been aided by the clinic since it was organized in 1947.

Following is a resume of the clinic's expenses for the fiscal year ended March 30:

Drugs, $808.18; physicians and dentists, $254; hospital, $45.65; milk, $116.43, and supplies, $26.60, for a total of $1,250.86. There were 98 children treated.

In making fund appeal, clinic officials explained that routine treatment for each child includes four polio shots, immunization against diptheria, whooping cough, tetanus, smallpox and a patch test for tuberculosis.

They had this to say also: "We like to repeat each year that no part of your donation goes for overhead. It is spent entirely for the benefit of the children, with only a token fee to our director.

"We sincerely appreciate your generosity and support in the past and hope that you will wish to continue. Any donation you make to us is a tax deduction, since our clinic is registered with the government and we are a recognized charitable organization."

The clinic's board is comprised of May Hartt, chairman, Frances Jones, club president, Jane Crawford, Jane Jolly and Mary McCullough.

Chief Continues Curb On Liquor At Games

East Liverpool police will continue enforcement this season of a rule that prohibits carrying alcoholic beverages onto Patterson Field, Chief Americo J. Radeschi warned today.

He issued the warning with the approach of the Potters first home game of the 1961-62 season Sept. 22 with Steubenville Central. The ban has been in force since the 1958-59 season. It has been credited with curbing offensive language, fights and other disorders, the chief pointed out.

what's new at Olsen's?

"Fashion Naturals."

"Ollie Olsen"

Olsen's salute the American Fashion Natural . . . the woman who firmly believes that clothes are to be lived in as well as admired . . . who's famous for picking fashions to fit her way of life. Good looks and ease are her trademarks . . . in handsome knitted dresses, in understated costumes, in the beautifully tailored separates that she loves.

Stand up and cheer . . . Fashion scores again. Imaginary pictures of coats flash through milady's head early in the fall like visions of sugar plums. What type coat to choose? What color? What Material?

Tuck your visions in the back of your little head and stop in Olsen's coat department. There you will find all the coats you have been dreaming about. Short coats, long coats, fur-trims and casuals.

You will be thrilled with the wonderful selections to be found there. For the Rah-Rah crowd there is a great assortment of raccoon and fox collared coats. Whether your campus bound or taking your first strides in a new career, you will love these razzle dazzle raccoon collared coats. They have a luxury look about them that is extremely flattering. We have so many styles to choose from, too . . . Camel blend-tweeds, plaids, and black and white checks, fashioned in either straight or soft flaring styles. Remember you don't have to be a girl genius to take honors for fashion, nor a financial wizard to know how to make your dollars go further. These coats are priced at only $39.95 in sizes 5-15. Make sure you see these coats. You will be glad you did.

The sportswear department is all excited about all their new fall styles. Blouses, skirts, sweaters, and all the important accessories to match. The most vital part of any girl's wardrobe this season are the colorful separates to mix, to match, to clash! Olsen's has a tremendous selection of all these match mates. One of the most important is the bulky knit sweater—novelty cardigans or the popular pull-over with huge coul collars. All the sweaters you will need for a "swinging' semester." Or perhaps you would like one of the newer jacquard prints to wear with either skirts or tapered pants. No matter how you wear them, you will need several. The price is small enough that you can do this very thing, in all sizes, in all the new fall colors.

The slack story this fall is — longer, leaner, and more tapered than ever before. Exciting new patterns, long wearing, easy to care for fabrics, clever new pocket & belt details, made with that custom look, cut clean as a whistle and close to your figure, with just enough room to swing, sway, and sashay around. Fully lined to keep their shape (and do justice to yours).

Olsen's just received dozens of new tapered pants in their sportswear department. Corduroys, flannels, stretch, and many others for as low as 2.88. You will love these with your bulky sweaters. Why not select two or three, put them on layby till a later date. Then when the cold wind blows, you will be all set. Remember Olsen's are open every night till 9.

That's all today . . . see you next Friday.

Ministers Eye Incidents

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet buzzing of U.S. airliners in the air corridors to Berlin spurred consideration today of possible Western counter measures.

Two incidents involving Soviet fighter planes were announced by the State Department Thursday night shortly after Western foreign ministers completed the first session of a three-day conference here on Berlin policy planning.

The ministers were expected, diplomats said, to take the incidents into account in their meetings today.

One of their major considerations since the Berlin crisis started has been to decide what steps would be taken by the Western powers if the Soviets or Communist East Germans began harassing aircraft using the Berlin corridors.

Diplomatic informants suggested that the buzzing of two Pan American aircraft would bring quick decisions on the part of the U.S. and Allied governments about protective measures—which could mean the use of Western fighters defensively in the air corridors.

Within the U.S. government, it was reported, military leaders have been studying the possibility of stationing fighter planes near the air corridor terminals in West Germany to have them ready for instant action if it appeared that an airliner in the corridors was endangered by Communist fighter plane buzzing.

The State Department announcement of the incidents Thursday said that "Soviet fighters endangered the flights of two American planes."

The department said a Soviet MIG circled a Pan American Berlin-Hamburg flight just outside of Berlin in the northernmost of the three 20-mile-wide corridors.

"The Soviet fighter circled the airliner several times," the State Department said, "Then pulled alongside and for a short distance flew 20 feet off the right wing tip."

About three hours later, the statement said, another Pan American flight was approached by two fighters in the south corridor about 80 miles from Berlin.

"One Soviet fighter followed in a tail position," the statement said. "The other crossed it at its nose at a distance of 100 feet."

In another air incident Thursday, two West German military pilots flew across East German territory in jet planes and landed safely at a Berlin airport. They said they strayed off course because of instrument failure.

Midland Told Of Crucible's Smoke Plans

Councilmen Learn Of Mill's Problems With Air Pollution

Air pollution was discussed by two representatives of the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co. and Midland Council Thursday evening.

Council also passed an ordinance, authorizing a lease agreement with the Municipal Water Authority for the operation of the new sewage treatment plant. No rates have been set.

Councilman Harvey Sponcer reported on action to have three new fire hydrants installed and two relocated.

Attending the informal discussion on air pollution by the company were Glenn Roberts, superintendent of community relations, and Charles Yutemeyer, superintendent of the coke, iron and steel division.

They indicated that Crucible is concerned with Midland and will do whatever it can to prevent air pollution. They said there should be no alarm over a new oxygen process, which many have believed will increase air pollution but which actually releases the same impurities as under the present ore process. But with an increased volume, there would naturally be more impurities.

Roberts presented to Council for its records a copy of a letter the company sent recently to employes, explaining the company's concern over air pollution, discussing the need for the oxygen process and listing many efforts of the company in the past to reduce the problem.

Roberts said the company is investigating devices to remove impurities but so far all are too expensive. Yutmeyer said that the recent smoke control installed by the Jones & Laughlin Co. cost as much as the Ft. Pitt tunnel.

Councilmen pointed out that in the last two months there has been a heavy smog during the evenings. Yutmeyer said the dust

Pedestrian's Death Declared 'Accident'

A verdict of "accidental death" was returned Thursday night by a six-member coroner's jury in the traffic fatality of Caris Calvin Campbell, 59, of Chester R.D. 1 late Wednesday afternoon on U. S. Route 30.

Campbell was fatally injured when struck by a car driven by Logan E. Wells, 76, of Chester R.D. 1.

The victim was struck while crossing Route 30 near the Pennsylvania State Line.

The inquest was conducted by a coroner's jury sworn in Wednesday by Squire John D. Herron of New Cumberland, acting Hancock County coroner.

DETROIT (AP) — Walter P. Reuther, United Auto Workers president, declined to speculate today whether strikes that have shut off auto production by General Motors Corp. can be ended by Monday, as requested by President Kennedy.

Each side blames the other for the strikes.

Local-level working agreements still had not been reached at 66 of GM's 129 plants and there appeared little hope that GM could be back in full production before the middle of next week at the earliest.

Even at some of the 63 plants where local-level settlements have been effected workmen have not returned to their jobs.

Asked about prospects of complete settlement by Monday, Reuther told newsmen: "I'm not going to speculate on a particular day. We all recognize the urgency of the situation and are working hard."

Pointing to eight settlements within the 24 hours to last midnight, Reuther said if all the strikes had been in one place and settlement had come in one day and night that would have seemed like a tremendous job. The eight settlements involved 22,000 workmen.

Threat of new disruption was averted today when the International Union of Electrical Workers agreed to extend their contract indefinitely, subject to 48 hours cancellation notice, for five of six IUE-represented GM plants.

The six IUE plants employ approximately 25,000 persons; the 123 UAW plants about 325,000.

2 Ex-Turkey Officials Sentenced To Death

Just hours before the sentence was pronounced Menderes suffered a serious nervous collapse and was unable to appear in court.

Menderes and Bayar were condemned for violating the constitution during the years they held Turkey under their iron rule. Eight co-defendants were condemned with them — six for violating the constitution and two for embezzling public funds.

County Asks Levies For $300,000

Total Of 1½ Mills Asked In Operating And Home Expense

Acting just before the deadline for seeking a Nov. 7 election ballot place, commissioners enacted resolutions late Thursday afternoon asking a vote on two new tax levies totaling 1½ mills to provide an additional $300,000 a year for operating expenses, including modernization of the ancient County Home.

The commissioners filed the resolutions with the County Election Board, seeking a vote on a levy of eight-tenths of a mill to provide $160,000 more annually for general operating expenses and a levy of seven-tenths of a mill that would provide $140,000 a year for "maintenance, repair, operations and new construction" at the County Home.

Each proposition would be in effect three years and would require a majority for approval.

The resolutions asking the ballot places were enacted by the affirmative votes of Commissioners Walter A. Hunston of East Palestine and Galen Greenisen of Salem, both Republicans.

Frank Wilson of Wellsville, the only Democrat on the three-member board, voted "no" on both resolutions.

The resolutions were approved at the last minute, as state law says such a proposition must be filed "before Sept. 15" if it's designed for a ballot place at a general election. Advised that the commissioners intended to submit the two 11th-hour propositions, the County Election Board kept its

Kennedy Aid Rejects Plea To Up Tariff

The Kennedy administration will not consider strict curbs on imports for fear of retaliation from foreign nations against American goods, the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters has been advised in a letter from a presidential aide.

The White House letter came to Secretary-Treasurer Charles F. Jordan of the IBOP, who wrote about a week ago to president Kennedy, asking him to consider seeking higher tariffs or a quota system as a way of safeguarding the domestic ceramic industry and the jobs of its employes.

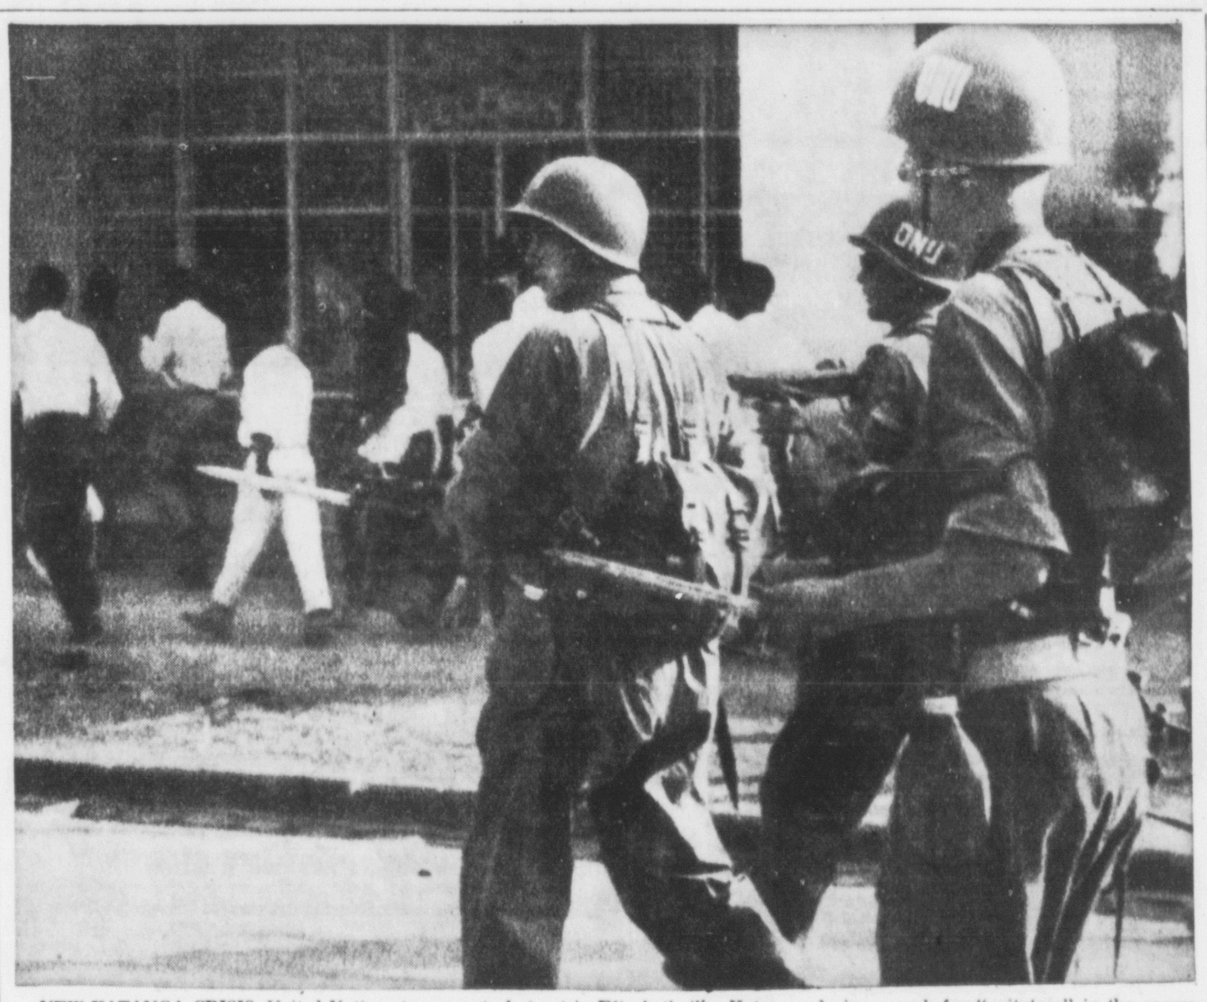

The reply to Jordan came from Myer Feldman, deputy special counsel to the President.

After conceding Jordan's point that IBOP members "have attained a high degree of skill," Feldman continued:

"I do not consider it advisable, however, to recommend a protest against foreign imports. At present, our exports exceed our imports by approximately five billion dollars. Many industries depend upon exports for their very existence. Obviously, any indiscriminate cancellation of the right to sell to the United States would provoke retaliation and create chaos."

In his letter to the President, Jordan had pointed out a resolution asking relief from the inroads of imports was passed at the IBOP's international convention in June in Miami.

He explained that some dinnerware plants have been forced to close in recent years because their markets have been taken away by cheap imports and that work schedules have been curtailed generally in the remaining factories. Jordan added that most IBOP members are skilled craftsmen who have spent many years on their jobs and would be unable to find employment readily in some other industry.

NEW KATANGA CRISIS. United Nations troops patrol street in Elisabethville, Katanga, during search for "agitators" in the secessionist province. U.N. troops took over key points in Wednesday's action at bringing Katanga under control of the Central Congo government. But operation ran into stiff opposition Thursday when Katangese launched a counterattack. Fighting was reported fierce, with heavy casualties on both sides. (UPI Telephoto)

Tribe Chiefs And Whites Rally To Call

Tshombe Vows To Resist To Death In Directing Blows

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—President Moise Tshombe's Katanga army threw planes, armored cars and hundreds of troops into widely scattered attacks on U.N. forces throughout the Congo's secessionist province today.

Tribal chiefs in the hinterland and white settlers in the Katanga capital, Elisabethville, rose to Tshombe's call for a "war to the last bullet" against the United Nations and to keep the province independent of the Leopoldville government.

Tshombe himself, vowing to resist to the death, directed the blows in his mineral-rich province.

The U.N. mission said the fighting started Wednesday when it moved to establish its security in Elisabethville because white mercenaries in Tshombe's hire were disrupting Congolese unity and threatening to bring on a civil war.

At the big U.N. airfield and military base at Kamina, Battle-weary Swedish troops fought off repeated onslaughts by Katanga forces led by white officers and backed by armored cars.

In Jadotville, a mining center 60 miles from Elisabethville, 150 beleaguered Irish troops were strafed by a Katanga jet fighter.

Mortar and machine-gun fire raked the north Katanga base of Kamina and the radio station there was knocked out. Since then all communications with the U.N. Kamina garrison have been cut off.

Two companies of Swedish troops were flown from Leopoldville this morning to reinforce the U.N. garrison.

They were flying to an area swarming with Katanga soldiers based only a few miles from the sprawling U.N. installations taken over from the Belgians at Kamina. Some reports reaching Leopoldville said Katanga forces have an armored train which is shelling the U.N. base.

Swedish troops in Kamina have only light weapons.

Reinforcements were sent to the hard pressed task force, which on Wednesday proclaimed that its military action against Tshombe's troops had restored the province to Leopoldville's control.

At Jadotville, U.N. Irish troops defied an ultimatum to surrender and were promptly bombed and strafed by a katanga jet fighter plane.

Joint School Move Seen Now In Effect

Deadline Is Passed Without Petition To Ban Merger

Merger of the Southern Local and Franklin Local school districts went into effect Thursday—ending Columbiana County's only eight-year school system — but county officials were still awaiting a study of a petition from Franklin residents for a merger with Carroll County.

Yesterday marked the deadline for a 30-day period in which a remonstrance petition could have been filed against the consolidation, but no such valid petition was presented.

Fred Johnson of Summitville had presented to the County Board of Education a petition bearing 307 signatures, asking a merger with Carroll Districts and an election.

However, the petition was far short of the required 35 per cent of the voters in the Southern Local and Franklin Local areas, although it represented 98 per cent of Franklin voters, Johnson said.

County Prosecutor William Brokaw, currently presenting criminal cases to the Grand Jury, is expected to present a ruling on possible effects of Johnson's petition on the merger at a meeting of the County Board Tuesday night at 8 at the Courthouse.

Registration Deadline For City Due Sept. 27

Wednesday, Sept. 27, will be the final day for unqualified East Liverpool voters to register for the Nov. 7 general election, Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the County Election Board, reminded today.

The city now has 10,476 qualifid electors, about 2,000 short of the potential of 12,500, O'Hanlon pointed out. Unqualified voters may register Monday through Friday from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. and Saturday from 9 a. m. to noon at the board's office on W. 6th St., opposite City Hall.

Despite the approaching deadline, there has been no sign of a rush to qualify. On the final day, the board will operate branch registration offices in East End, North Side and Pleasant Heights, supplementing the facilities at the downtown office.

Death Toll At 40

Carla Continues To Haunt Texas

Carla's death list stood at 40 in four states but grim apprehension prevailed as waters continued to recede, revealing more destruction.

Twenty-eight persons were dead in Texas. Kansas counted 5, Missouri 2, and Louisiana 5.

The hurricane, termed one of the most vicious ever to swirl out of the Gulf of Mexico, battered Texas and Louisiana coasts with winds up to 173 miles an hour and tides of nearly 14 feet. It then swept northward to bring torrential downpours and floods to Oklahoma, Kansas, and Missouri.

Authorities could only estimate the damage done to the South Texas areas swept by Carla's tornadic winds.

Red Cross survey teams said at least 40,200 homes were destroyed or damaged in the 14 counties hit by the hurricane.

Ralph Shannon, Dallas County Red Cross director, said also destroyed or damaged were 900 farm buildings, 875 other buildings and 340 boats and house trailers.

Hampering those who sought to aid in the gigantic mopup were impassable highways, threats of disease, disrupted utilities, lack of water to drink and poisonous snakes.

The Texas Highway Department reported many roads remained closed by rainfall floods. Some areas were off-limits to all but those who could prove they had a valid reason for entering.

Crop damage in the highly agricultural state was heavy. Jefferson County, in the southeast corner of the state, reported rice losses amounting to 50 per cent of the crop.

Waller county, also in southeast Texas, was reported to have sustained almost $1.5 million worth of crop losses.

Waller County Agent E. M. Weaver said the cotton crop was a total loss.

Annual Flower Show Set Saturday And Sunday

The gymnasium of Westgate School will be turned into a riot of color Saturday and Sunday as the East Liverpool Dahlia and Floral Society holds its 36th annual show.

Members will hold a "Work Night" tonight at the school to prepare for the free floral exhibition which will feature all types, sizes and colors of dahlias plus rose and arrangements divisions.

The show will be open to the public from 5 to 10 p. m. Saturday and from noon to 8 p. m. Sunday, J. T. Eccleston, show chairman, said.

Judging of the entries will begin at 1 p. m. tomorrow in all but the arrangements division. Arrangements will be judged starting at 2 p. m.

Judges for the show include Fred Clarke of Gibsonia, R. M. Fletcher of Sewickley, Jerry Greuble of Derry, Harold Shannabrook of Massillon, Jerry Kovar of Berea, William Danko of Parma, William Koenig, Rudolph Motznik and Sam Holt, all of Pittsburgh, E. J. Wind of Rocky River, Charles Lasch of Garfield Heights and Henry Retzer of West Bridgewater.

Continuing its traditions, the show once again will have an open, large amateur and movie sections for dahlia fanciers, basket, vase and bowl arrangements division, rose division, junior growers' section, open arrangements division, an arrangements section for members of the East Liverpool Garden Club only, amateur arrangements and a horticulture division with a specimen bloom in each class.

The theme for the open arrangements division is "Mellow Moods of Autumn." It is sponsored by the Garden Club.

Double Truck Wreck Hurts East End Man

An East End man was injured Thursday afternoon when his truck and another collided at the foot of the Route 30 hill in Chester — one of two mishaps in Chester yesterday.

Patrolman Clarence Lennens said an empty 1958 truck driven east by Albert Morgan, 46, of Connellsville, Pa., crossed the center line on Carolina Ave. at the foot of the hill, and rammed the westbound dump truck operated by Shields.

Shield's truck, loaded with coal, was demolished and a large quantity of coal was scattered on the street, Lennens said.

Morgan, cited for failure to have his vehicle under control, posted a $15.50 bond for a hearing Saturday before Mayor Ray Collins. His truck received extensive damage, the officer reported. The mishap was timed at 2:45.

No one was injured in a collision between a sedan driven by Max Tuttle, 53, of Indiana Ave., Chester, and a pickup truck operated by Robert Ferenhaugh, 30, of Howard, Ohio, last night at 8:05 at Carolina Ave. and 5th St.

Lennens said Tuttle was making a right turn from Carolina Ave. onto 5th St. when his right rear fender and rocker panel caught on the front bumper of the truck which was halted at a curb, waiting to pull into traffic. Damage was minor, Lennens said.

Hurricane's Course Unchanged In Atlantic

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)— Hurricane Esther, packing winds up to 130 miles per hour near the center, continued on a west-northwest course in the Atlantic today with indications that it might turn toward the Northwest.

Forecaster Raymond Kraft said there were "slight indications" that Esther might take a turn toward the Northwest in the next day or two, but he emphasized it was too early to say definitely.

New Postal Facility Due Cumberland

New Cumberland will get a new Post Office as a part of President Kennedy's accelerated program of postal construction and modernization.

Rep. Cleveland M. Bailey said today he has learned that the Post Office Department is seeking bids to furnish and lease space suitable for quarters in the Hancock County seat.

Closing date for the bids is Oct. 20, Bailey said.

The proposed new, modern facility will be constructed under the Postal Department's commercial leasing program, utilizing resources and investment funds of private enterprise.

Specifications call for approximately 2,260 square feet of interior space, outside loading platform, and adequate area for parking and truck maneuvering, the congressman said.

Father Of 6 Faces Prison

BEAVER — A 31-year-old father of six children faced a 10-to-20-year prison term today after being found guilty of second degree murder Thursday night in Beaver County Court.

A jury returned a verdict last night against Ezra Lowe of Aliquippa in the fatal shooting May 28 of Fred Wallace, 29, also of Aliquippa.

Attys. Edwin M. Wallover of Beaver and James B Ceris of Ambridge, Lowe's counsel, said today they were not certain whether they will appeal the verdict. They have until Monday.

Meanwhile, Atty. Robert Masters of Midland, assistant district attorney, said he will seek a second degree murder verdict in the trial of Stephen Michael Davis, 69, of New Galilee, which will begin Monday.

Davis was indicted in the fatal shooting of his daughter, Mrs. Louise Marie Dorsch, 42, on July 11. Attys. Charles Marshall and Eugene Rumisek, both of Beaver Falls, have been appointed by the court to defend Davis.

Criminal intent is generally necessary for the commission of a crime besides the crime itself.

Ex-Director Banned In Delinquency Case

Thomas Enochs of Lehigh Acres, Fla., former city safety-service director, was fined $500 and given a suspended one-year sentence Thursday in Juvenile Court at Lisbon after pleading guilty to acts tending to cause the delinquency of a 15-year-old city boy.

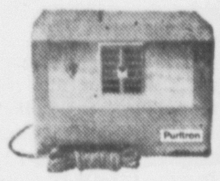

The jail term was suspended by Judge Louis Tobin on condition Enochs leave Columbiana County and not return for a period of two years unless given court permission.

Enochs, who had been visiting here, was freed on $1,000 bond after a preliminary hearing earlier this month at which he pleaded innocent. He changed his plea to guilty yesterday.

Always Willing To Listen

Washington's red carpet has been rolled up.

Presidents Sukarno of Indonesia and Keita of Mali have gone home after stopping over to tell President Kennedy how the bystander nations felt at Belgrade.

They were delegated to do this by two dozen Belgrade delegates.

The gist of their message to the United States was that this country should waste no time before arranging a conference with the men in the Kremlin, to preserve peace. Always willing to listen, the United States concealed its feelings about the Belgrade nations and some of the other nations being heard from these days.

Eventually, its feelings about them will get too unwieldy to conceal any longer. The first one likely to get unwieldy is the feeling that every spokesman who purports to have a national backing should spell out the backing as part of his credentials.

SOME OF THE gentlemen representing their nations are highly estimable as individuals. But from the viewpoint of American citizens who delegate authority under their popular sovereignty to citizens who actually speak for them, subject to the popular will, they have no actual backing.

In one way or another they merely have boiled to the top of their assorted political cauldrons. Some of the cauldrons, moreover, are miniscule. Some are only half-formed. Compared with nations that have been in existence long enough to develop traditions and policies, the nations so described are apprentices in an inter-related world. They have not earned the right to speak.

Mali, for example, is so new and so vaguely formed that its president and premier Mobido Keita would be hard-pressed to define precisely the autonomy he professes to represent. Yet, in the topsy-turvy world of this era, men like President Keita presume to carry on negotiations as equals with the president of a country whose system of delegated authority by the consent of the sovereign people is one of the marvels of the Christian era.

IN THE UNITED NATIONS General Assembly, votes are bestowed according to governments, not according to the number of people represented by governments.

The United States must look ahead with dread to the possibility it might be outvoted on a key question in the not-too-distant future by a bloc of delegates representing nothing but themselves.

This country should always listen courteously to well-meant advice, as its chief executive has just done in receiving the two emissaries from Belgrade.

But it cannot be expected to be silent about its feeling that some of the advice and pressure it is encountering represent nothing but the prejudices and interests of individuals temporarily on top in their various political cauldrons — men who never asked for or were given a popular mandate.

No Special Help For New York

Ohio Sen. Frank J. Lausche is going against the grain of his fellow Democrats by blocking a chance to blow millions of federal dollars on the 1964-65 "world's fair" in New York.

He also is going against the grain of New Yorkers of both political parties accustomed to the idea that their city is entitled to comparably vast sums of federal money to help it solve its endless problems.

But the Ohio senator has taken the right position.

A "world's fair" in New York City is not the kind of project that calls for help from the rest of us.

If we go to the fair—and many of us will go to it—we will pay handsomely for the privilege. Not only will the money-takers at the fair have their hands out, but New York City will have its hand out. Nothing will be free.

Sen. Lausche says he is blocking the expenditure of as much as $30 million for a federal building on the site of the New York fair because it was agreed when Congress approved New York as the site of the fair that no federal money would be sought. He thinks the agreement should be honored.

The fair is a straight-out commercial venture. If it's a good show, it will draw enough customers to make everybody happy, and the customers themselves will be easier to please if they aren't clipped for $30 million in advance.

It's Dahlia Time

The 36th annual show sponsored by the East Liverpool Dahlia and Floral Society will be held here Saturday and Sunday. The place is the Westgate School and time is Saturday 5 to 10 p. m. and Sunday noon until 8 p. m.

The local society has received wide recognition for its activities and has been instrumental in letting the rest of the nation know that East Liverpool and the immediate district produces outstanding dahlia growers. Trophies captured in competition speak for themselves.

The annual show is another fitting tribute to a fine and dedicated group of people.

You could find few more pleasant ways to spend your time over the weekend than to pay a visit to the dahlia show. Admission is free. We're sure the local society would like nothing better than to see the exhibit area jammed from the time the doors open until they close.

Facing A Moment Of Truth

Every champion of free enterprise has sensed a moment of truth coming in the communication industry's effort to develop satellite systems.

A choice had to be made between free enterprise and captive enterprise. Either private companies would be given responsibility on their own initiative, or they would be given orders by the government.

It never was a question of the government, itself, vs. private companies, because the government lacked facilities. It was a question whether the job would be done by companies under agreement with one another, or by companies under government authority, with all terms dictated from Washington.

THE WALL STREET JOURNAL says the question hasn't been answered, though the government decision was made in July to give free enterprise its chance.

The interested companies are so engrossed in cutting up each other, and especially in cutting up American Telephone & Telegraph, the giant in the field, that they may force government intervention as a means of getting something done.

The Soviet Union may score another sensational first in the space age. International communication via earth satellites that would transmit messages over great distances is the most important use so far for the giant rockets that can put satellites into long-lasting orbits around the earth.

Here is the enigma of the enterprise system, which works best in the long run because of competition yet works badly in the short run for the same reason.

HERE IS THE CHALLENGE that enterprise faces when government control is the alternative—whether it can agree to quit disagreeing long enough to get things under way—whether it can agree at all without having some eager young lawyer from the antitrust division of the Justice Department breathing on its neck.

Private enterprise wants its chance in satellite communications. For once, government is willing to step aside. But if all this means is a chance for component elements in private enterprise to fight while Russian authoritarians go rocketing along to still more success, government control is the only alternative.

The communication industry's moment of truth is here as far as satellite systems are concerned.

By H. I. Phillips

Western insurance company is basing auto rates for young drivers on psychological and personality tests in which questions include "Which would you prefer to be, a YMCA leader, Scoutmaster or plumber?" Other questions seem similarly strange in determining how a kid will drive an auto.

Applicant who answers "I would rather be a plumber" gets lowest mark. (Plumbers of the world arise! Don't take this lying down under the kitchen sink.)

We have been scared stiff on highways by just as many potential YMCA leaders as plumbers, and a Scoutmaster can be as slow to obey the "Yield Right of Way" sign as a steamfitter.

If quizzes are getting that curious, lets go the limit:

Q. Which would you rather be, a safety first chairman, a calciminer or a bird watcher.

A. Some of my best friends are bird watchers but they tend to follow the flight of woodpeckers when they should be keeping eyes on road. I want to be a shortstop.

Q. A football refereee, a short-order cook, a U.S. Steel executive and a Cub den mother all meet at same intersection at same speed. Which would you prefer to be?

A. A Cub den mother for purposes of low insurance but a tow car service man all things considered at the moment.

Q. If six drivers were contesting right of way with you at a dangerous crossing, and they were an insurance salesman or, an intoxicated botanist and four firemen which would give you the best break?

A. The four firemen. They would at least hold a net for me.

Q. Traffic being what it is, would you prefer to be a racing driver, a tourist hurrying home from a weekend or a trapeze artist with weak wrists?

A. What's the difference?

Reuther Uses 'Brinkmanship'

By Victor Riesel

As this week opened amid the echoes of N. S. Khrushchev's megaton munitions, the President of the U.S. wanted to know why the president of the UAW (auto union) had shut down the General Motors Corp. John Kennedy telephoned his own account executive in charge of domestic crises — namely Arthur Goldberg who had been in touch with both sides in Detroit right through the weekend and even through the highest holy holidays of Mr. Goldberg's faith.

Victor Riesel

In effect, the report from Detroit — and therefore to the President — was that Walter Reuther had decided to make matters worse for a short time so they could be better quicker.

Apparently the rank-and-file had become strike happy. So had many of their regional and local leaders. Militant speeches had moved them right over the brink.

As Walter Reuther and GM's Louis Seaton were trying to negotiate a peace, wildcatters hit the bricks in at least 17 cities shutting down some 40 plants.

In another the executive board replied to a go-back-to-work telegram from Detroit with basic Anglo-Saxon, unprintable here.

When some plants in the Pittsburgh area went down, the company warned that much of GM's 129 plant complex would be affected. There would be no supply of car bodies — since there was no stockpile of new models.

Red-hots all over the place began talking of gold - plated sweat shops, parking lot grievances, as well as the 2,000 more series of local demands (out of the well publicized 16,000) for such matters as a longer lunch hour and more relief men to permit assembly line workers to attend to personal needs.

It might have gone out of control. It was 1958 all over again. Virtually everybody has forgotten that after the national GM settlement, back there, the company could not get into effective production for six wildcat-filled weeks. Some $50 million was lost by all sides, according to estimates then.

THEN, AS NOW, the issues were the same. On Oct. 3, 1958 I reported that there would be no auto settlement until there was agreement on relief time, wash-up time, less work by supervisors on the line and one similar wage for similar work throughout the company, as well as more time for auto union committeemen to handle the men's grievances.

There is one difference. Then the President was Dwight Eisenhower. His labor secretary was Jim Mitchell. Walter Reuther did not promise Ike that there would be industrial peace. That promise, in effect, has been made to John Kennedy and Arthur Goldberg. Ike's White House kept it's people out of the negotiations until the apogee. Kennedy's Goldberg has been in this since the crisis was put on the launching pad.

Over this last weekend it became obvious that the 2,000 local demands would not be settled by Monday morning.

I AM INFORMED that this is the message that then went from Detroit union headquarters to Washington. Though I never have used anonymous quots, I break precedent here. Otherwise I could not use it at all. The message was:

"The wildcat walkouts were being led by militants so strike-happy that Reuther would have had to battle his own men to get them back.

"If he had denounced them and they had rebuffed him, it could have wildfired into open rebellion.

"Reuther pulled them all out so he could keep it orderly.

"This he hoped would avert any awkwardness that might result from open defiance and the need to bring local rebels up on charges. Nor did he want to appear to give in to ambitious hot hands trying to make a reputation among the rank and file who have long been agitated over these negotiations by scores of speeches, rallies and literature.

"So Reuther called them all out to centralize strike leadership in Detroit and keep order. Thus he leads and doesn't follow. There is no patchwork of some men reporting and others not reporting. Order is kept. Then in Detroit the national UAW officers complete a pact and tell everybody to go back at the same time."

The risk was calculated. Reuther counted on a short walkout after the general settlement — a controlled stoppage. This analysis was passed on to John Kennedy.

A Look At Congress

By Rowland Evans Jr.

WASHINGTON — Congress seems destined to disappoint, even when it votes most of what a president asks.

The more the thrust of government and the impulse of innovation and experiment are concentrated in the executive, the more Congress seems to wallow.

Where were the historic debates in the first Kennedy Congress? If Congress is the forum of the people, the people's voice has been strangely silent. The pages of the Congressional Record, that shaggy lawn of many weeds, are filled on almost any day with page upon page of what Sen. Jones or Rep. Smith said—not in the halls of Congress but in a television debate somewhere else.

Why waste one's energies reciting a mimeographed speech to an empty Senate when the local broadcasting station back home will carry it live (or canned) to the audience that really counts —one's own constituency?

The time is ripe for serious debate in Congress but there is no debate.

SEN. STROM THURMOND, the right-wing South Carolina Democrat, has tried hard to get a debate going on an issue of great significance to the country, whether high military officers should be gagged for instructing their troops how to vote in national elections. Sen. Thurmond thinks they should not, which indicates how far the right-wing is prepared to go, but Sen. Thurmond, at least, is prepared to argue the case in Congress.

It is a case that should be argued because the question of permitting the military to mix in politics is a fundamental one.

But there was no real debate.

And where was the debate on the broad issue of separation of church and state and its corollary, the question of federal aid for Catholic schools?

If not in Congress, then where else is the charge of Cardinal Spellman to be dismissed and examined, that to deny federal aid to parochial schools, while granting it to public schools, is to subvert the process of education in this country?

The votes were cast but the issue was never really explored. And yet the cutting edge of the "religious issue" hacks away on federal school-aid bills year after year.

Congress has lost, one hopes temporarily, its passion for debating the great issues. In the period leading up to the Civil War, presidents were comparatively weak and the men of Congress powerful.

THE WORDS spoken in the Senate on the question of slavery, abolition, federalism, and union became the basis of men's thinking and helped shape political opinion.

Today, power centers in the White House. It is framed in the glamor of personality and the glitter of that descriptive little word, glamorous. If you ran its image up the flag pole, to paraphrase a Madison Avenueism, it would not fly.

But Congress has not yet lost the will to use its veto power. It permitted religion and states rights to kill the President's public school bill but states rights swallowed its principles and voted an extension of federal aid to inspected areas; it refused to make a start toward closing innumerable special-interest tax loopholes; it declined to give the administration the mechanism it asked to assure long-term financing of foreign economic aid; it failed to tackle the President's program for old-age medical care and it showed decisively in its last few weeks that the center of the House is far from the right of the President.

Through The Years

THIRTY YEARS AGO — Miss Louise Cook was renamed teacher of the Sigma Alpha Class of the First Church of Christ.

W. E. Wells of Newell Heights, chairman of the board of directors of the Homer Laughlin China Co. and recognized spokesman for the American Ceramic Industry, died suddenly from a cerebral hemrorhage at his home.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Howard J. Lindell, Thomas Maley and Ralph A. McShane were named to assist in the program of the Ohio State Elks Association.

Mrs. Elizabeth Smith was received as a new member of White Rose Lodge 25, Daughters of St. George.

The Value Of Critics

By David Lawrence

Why The Hullabaloo Over Paar's Berlin Show?

"What was all the hullabaloo about?"

This question undoubtedly came from the lips of many millions one of the world's most powerful Communists. He is, of course, as unknown throughout the United States as was Lumumba in the days when folks did not ing Co. over a large network of stations.

David Lawrence

Anyone who saw the program, as did this correspondent, must have wondered why members of Congress who hadn't seen it, but had read newspaper accounts of the filming episode itself, went off the deep end in their criticism. In fact, the Pentagon — without waiting to see the pictures — removed one colonel from his post and admonished another who had helped to arrange or had participated in the affair.

This led a lot of Americans to believe that some grievous error had been committeed. The filmed show itself didn't bear out the news stories that had been written about it, particularly with regard to the presence of armed vehicles and the number of soldiers at the scene.

Actually, the show did more to enlighten the American people about the inhumane acts of the Communists in separating families in East Berlin from relatives in West Berlin, and generally disrupting the life of a peaceful community, than may have been obtained from reading some of the fragmentary news accounts over a series of days.

It was Confucius who said that "a picture is worth 10,000 words." While this may often be exaggerated, many viewers got for the first time from the photographs of the walls and barricades and sealed-up apartments on the line the impact of the physical imprisonment of the East Germans.

The pictures were vividly interspersed with the comments by Jack Paar and his capable assistant, Peggy Cass, who together did the kind of job that many a newscaster has done on news events in the past.

THE YEAR happens to be 1961 and not 1931, and television is just another form of communication included in the term "the press."

There wouldn't have been any debate in Congress if some well-known reporter had gone to the West Berlin border and interviewed the American commander and his troops and had gotten from them impressions of the task they were doing.

What Jack Paar did was to talk briefly to 15 or 20 soldiers out of the many hundreds scattered inside the city along the borderline. He merely asked them to give their names and their home towns. This was, of course, to provide some parents or relatives back home a chance to see their loved ones.

The colonel in charge answered a few routine questions which wouldn't have caused a ripple if the interview had been obtained by a newspaper reporter.

It will be said that in a time of tension this sort of episode can create an "incident" or bring on international complications. But the Communists had their photographers there, too, as well as moviemen, and they made pictures of the whole scene from their side of the line.

Incidentally, there wasn't a single thing about it that was funny or intended as comedy. In fact, one felt a little sorry for Jack Paar and his staff as they worked in the pouring rain.

It was on the whole a serious affair, and had it been done by some of the regular newscasters it would have been regarded as a news feature or special news project.

AMERICANS watching the program not only saw pictures of the way a city has been sealed off but were given also some significant sidelights.

There was, for instance, a picture of a big handbill, turned toward East Berlin, proclaiming that citizens of West Berlin had offered a $2,500 reward for information that would lead to the capture of the Communist who shot and killed a teen-age youngster as he sought to swim to freedom from East to West Berlin. The boy had reached the West Berlin side and was clearly out of East Berlin when the Communist bullet ended his life.

There was no excuse for the murder. It so happens that a photograph of the killer was obtained, and it was placed on the poster. So sooner or later one Communist murderer may pay for his crime.

To many watching the show the thought must have occurred that those members of Congress who became so vehement over the filming of the show might better have spent their time expressing a sense of outrage over the murder of this and other East Germans who had risked their lives to escape their Communist prison.

This West Berlin - East Berlin affair isn't tensed up every minute of the day. There are hours of monotony, and hence a filming of the scene with a few soldiers on hand didn't affect any military operations at all. But in presenting worth-while information—or even propaganda against Communism — the Jack Paar show was an effective piece of work.

He deserves not brickbats but applause for his revelation of the human story behind the Berlin crisis.

One thing that can be said for the critics is that, by their advance comments, they helped to boost tremendously the audience for the show on Tuesday night.

Letters To The Editor

I had an unusual experience the other night. I went to a PTA meeting at Westgate School because I thought they would take up about our children's safety in crossing the construction area around the school and how we parents could help make the school better for the children.

But all they did was play "name bingo" and talk about raising money.

Even the principal, Mr. Dixon, told the people that he wanted them to buy chairs for the school. I thought the school district bought these things. The whole meeting was about everything but our children. I think it's about time for PTAs to get back to the purpose of looking after the needs of the children.

You might not want to print my letter, but I talked to some of my neighbors and they told me that that's the reason they don't go to the PTA meetings. I was going to ask these questions, but the president was more interested in the money - raising things.

I know I don't write what I mean very well and I know the school people will be angry, but I do think that all the PTAs in the city should look over their record.

MRS. ROSE MILLER
W. 9th St.

Last week there was a letter in this column criticizing the type of things that are printed in the newspapers, the moral standards people accept and the type of sermons ministers preach — with a warning to the American people we should turn back to God.

I thought it was well written, with a lot of good meaning, so I wrote the author to comment on it, but my letter was returned marked "address unknown".

I also feel there are a lot of things printed in the newspapers that would be much better unsaid, but this was my first remembrance of seeing a complaint in print. Papers usually print what the people want to read. The movies and TV usually produce entertainment the public wants. So until enough people demand a difference it will stay as it is.

Ministers have been preaching for years, with few people really listening. There are some anti-Christians among them who some people want to hear, but there are so many men of God that preach a lot of good messages to unreceptive souls.

People some times let a number of things stand in the way of hearing God's word and shut out a vision of Christ.

The world is made up of people who decide by their actions what kind of a world it will be.

is more noticeable now since the company had increased production after a reduced level.

Steve Germusa, Council president, suggested atmospheric conditions, such as humidity, may have something to do with the problem and both Crucible men agreed.

Councilman Joseph D'Alesio suggested that the company's cindering plant operation could be moved to the daylight turn. He also expressed concern over air pollution affecting the health of residents. Yutmeyer said Crucible has no processes which release toxic impurities.

He explained the need of the company to use oxygen, which reduces the time of a heat and produces steel at a competitive price.

Crucible plans to experiment with the oxygen process on one of its open hearth furnaces.

Germusa said a recent sample of air pollution was taken by the Pennsylvania Department of Health at the new sewage plant and results will be known later.

Mrs. C. K. O'Hara, borough secretary, read a letter and reported a phone call concerning the borough's request for a representative of the state's Air Pollution Board to attend Council's meeting Sept. 28. Both Crucible spokesmen were invited by Germusa to attend. Legal aspects will be discussed.

Sponcer, fire committee chairman, reported on action of his committee and that of D'Alesio's service committee on fire hydrants recommended at the last meeting.

New hydrants will be installed at 6th St. and Virginia Ave., at 7th St. and Ohio Ave. and near Presentation Parochial School at Penn Ave. and 8th St. Hydrants to be relocated include one at 628 Ohio Ave., which will be moved to 6th St. and Ohio Ave., and one on 1st St. hill to 1st St. and Woodland Ave.

He said the cost to the borough will be the expense of the three new "plugs" at $24 a year, which is paid to the Municipal Authority.

Mrs. O'Hara reminded councilmen of a meeting next Wednesday at 8 p.m. at Judge Morgan Sohn's courtroom at the Beaver Courthouse to organize a boroughs association of Beaver County. Germusa and D'Alesio plan to attend.

Germusa reported on a meeting of the Planning Commission he attended Monday evening. He said he authorized the authority to have Michael Baker Jr., Inc., Rochester consulting engineers, look into the possibility of federal aid for construction of off-street parking facilities.

Germusa said Mayor Eli Corak, who also is Beaver County commissioner, was in Washington recently to learn how to obtain federal loans and grants. He said Corak believes that Midland will be high on the priority list and should get the money without too much trouble.

Sponcer reported on a recent request of the Industry firemen for fire protection while the Industry fire truck is down for repairs.

Sponcer suggested that Midland enter into a reciprocal agreement with Industry as it has with East Liverpool, Germusa asked Sponcer to have the agreement drawn up with Atty. Robert Masters, solicitor, so Council may approve it.

Mrs. O'Hara read the report of the 1961 season of the Veterans Memorial Swimming pool submitted for Councilman William Vinovich, who was not present.

It listed $2,691 for complete passes and $2,947.25 for individual passes, less a refund of $5, totaling $5,633.25 which is $217.05 less than the 1960 proceeds of $5,850.30. Councilmen offered congratulations to Vinovich for a successful year.

Germusa reported on complaints that the pool was not open during the recent hot days after closing Labor Day. He said it is not the policy for the pool to be open afterwards.

Explorer Post Signs 7 As New Members

Seven new members were registered at the first fall meeting of the Explorer Scout Post 7 Thursday evening in St. Aloysius Parochial School.

New officers, headed by Jay Gillespie, president, were in charge.

Plans were made to attend the Steelers-Giants football game Sept. 24 at Pittsburgh.

James L. McKinnon is the advisor.

Track Link Due Repairs

The West Virginia State Road Commission is planning extensive improvements to a rural Hancock County road used by motorists as a short-cut to Waterford Park Race Track.

Manley Howard of Moundsville, district engineer, said Allison School Rd. in the rural Chester area will be improved this fall.

Length of the project is 7½ miles, stretching from the area of the Hilltop drive-in theater on Route 2 to Route 66 near the track.

Howard said the secondary road will be improved with concrete, gravel and dirt. Some work already has been done, he said.

The Moundsville office could not confirm reports that State Road Commissioner Burl Sawyers had authorized an initial appropriation of $50,000 for improvements to U. S. Route 30 through Chester.

He was quoted earlier as reporting the deep curves of the Chester Hill will be widened and the road graded.

Estimated cost of the improvement to the Allison School Rd. is believed to be $50,000. The road is used heavily during Waterford Park's racing seasons by Pittsburgh area motorists as a short-cut around Chester traffic.

Commissioners Accept Land Plat

The property owned by Ronald B. and Emily P. Mackall, in the southwest quarter of Section 14, consists 5.05 acres divided into 13 lots with 1.3 acres set aside for streets.

A travel allowance was granted Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin to attend a state committee meeting in Columbus today to fight the freeze on admissions to the boys and girls industrial schools, but the event apparently was canceled.

An allowance also was given the Budget Commission was to attend a joint meeting with the Stark and Carroll County commissions in Minerva today. Kenneth Bell, auditor; Vincent C. Judge, county treasurer, and Chief Deputy Auditor James Cavanaugh were to make the trip. Prosecutor G. William Brokaw is tied up with the Grand Jury and unable to attend.

Commissioners will meet Monday from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. at the courthouse.

Youth Unhurt As Auto Wrecks

A 21-year-old East Liverpool area youth walked away uninjured from his demolished auto Thursday night near Darlington without reporting the accident, Pennsylvania State Police at Rochester said today.

William James Smith is expected to make a report of the mishap sometime today, officers said after contacting his mother, Mrs. Josephine Smith, 427 College St.

Police said they learned of the accident after the overturned car was spotted at the bottom of a 30-foot embankment on Route 51 north of Darlington.

Officers said Smith already had left when they arrived, but they contacted his mother who said she would notify him to appear today.

How food fads can fool you

We don't mean there's anything wrong with eating yogurt and wheat germ and so on. They are fine, healthful foods. But here's the rub. Advocates of some food fads promise benefits that diet alone can't deliver. Occasionally, someone with a medical problem will try to solve it by living mostly on cabbage juice or some such thing. Special foods and diets, however, have limitation—can be harmful when improperly used. So if you think there's anything wrong with you, by all means see your physician.

Woman Hurt In Collision

A Wellsville area woman received a nose injury when her car rammed the rear of a truck on Route 7 near Rogers in one of three area traffic mishaps Thursday.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said Violet Shollenberger, 26, of Wellsville R. D. 1 was treated by a physician for a bruised nose.

Officers said she was headed south beyond Rogers and had pulled out to pass a truck operated by Richard Wallace, 33, of Lisbon R. D. 3.

Because of approaching traffic, she returned to her own lane but hit the rear of the truck, causing considerable damage to her 1959 sedan, officers said. She was cited for failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

William Grossen, 73, of New Waterford R. D. 1 was treated at Salem City Hospital for abrasions of the leg, arm and head and a laceration of the skull received when his truck hit an embankment on Route 14 a mile east of Route 7 yesterday.

Officers said Grossen lost control on a curve while headed east and the truck left the road.

Charles Fox, 70, of East Rochester was charged with failure to yield the right-of-way after his car and another collided on Route 30 at East Rochester.

Fox, the patrol said, pulled out of a side street into the path of a car operated by Clyde McDole, 25, of East Rochester, headed west on Route 30.

office open more than two hours after the accustomed 4 p.m. closing time to accept the resolutions.

The majority commissioners declared that three state agencies — the State Health Department, the fire marshal's office and the building inspection division of the Department of Welfare — have complained about the condition of the home. General fund money has been used in past years to help maintain and operate the home, but no more general revenue is available, they said.

In asking the additional funds for current operating expenses, Hunston and Greenisen pointed to declines in year-end balances in the general fund.

The general fund surplus was $300,000 in 1959 and in 1960 it was $254,000, they said. The "Carry-over" into 1961 was $129,000, but at the end of 1962 they estimate the surplus will be $5,000.

If present demands for services continue and revenue holds at the same level, the county would be $298,000 in the red in 1962, Hunston and Greenisen said.

Meanwhile Washingtonville village filed three propositions which it indicated earlier were being considered.

There are two new 2-mill levies — one for operating expenses and one for fire protection — and a third proposition that is a renewal of 1-mill and a reduction of 2-mills for street-lighting purposes.

The ultimate effect of the third proposition would be to cut the street-lighting levy from the present 3 mills to 1 mill. Each proposal would be in effect five years and require a majority for approval.

Yesterday was the deadline for filing propositions for the November election except for fund measures tied to schools or other public buildings.

Yesterday's filings boost to 39 the number of special questions and issues filed or anticipated. Only one expected proposal has not been filed — a Salem question on adoption of a charter plan for city government.

Since attorney general's ruling have held that such a proposal must be filed "in a reasonable time" prior to a general election, this has been interpreted to mean the deadline for a charter plan proposal is 40 days prior to the election. That makes Salem's deadline Sept. 27.

Drunk Driver Fined

LISBON — Joe Edward, 39, of Washington, Pa., was fined $150 and costs and sentenced to three days in jail at a hearing Thursday evening before Mayor Dean Stockman after he pleaded guilty to driving while intoxicated. He was cited by police early Thursday morning on Route 30 south.

Enrollment Swelled

CLEVELAND (AP) — Latecomers have swelled Cleveland's public school enrollment by nearly 1,000 over what it was on opening day last week. The 139,998 total is the highest since the 1935-36 school year.

Skidding Car Strikes Tree

An 18-year-old youth escaped unhurt, but was cited on two charges, after his auto skidded out of control on a Park Way curve Thursday at 2:45 p.m. and went over an embankment, striking a tree.

David W. Bailey of Dixonville faced Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today on charges of illegal auto registration and driving without an operator's permit.

The judge continued both cases until Sept. 22 and instructed Bailey to act in the meantime to obtain a driver's license and to transfer the registration from a car which he previously owned to the the auto which was wrecked yesterday.

Bailey told the judge he bought the auto Aug. 19 with $50 he received in pay while in summer camp as an Army Reserve member. He said he is unemployed. The court ordered Bailey released on his own recognizance, as he had been in jail since he was cited yesterday, unable to raise an appearance bond.

Bailey told police he was driving south on Park Way when the rear of his car began to slide on wet pavement. He attempted to correct the skid, but lost control and the car went over the embankment and hit the tree, he said. The front of the auto was smashed, officers said.

Bettis Blasts Gov. DiSalle

LISBON — In a speech before the Mid-County Republican Club Thursday night, State Rep. J. Warren Bettis lambasted Gov. Michael DiSalle as a governor who wants "to tax and tax, spend and spend, and thereby hopes to elect and elect."

"He will fail in this desire," Rep. Bettis, predicted, citing instances in which he feels Gov. DiSalle has overplayed his hand, declaring that the Ohio public is soon going to "dethrone King Mike."

Atty. Joseph Baronzzi, first vice president, introduced the speaker. Rep. Clarence Wetzel also was a guest.

Mrs. Ray Davies, president, presided for brief business and lunch was served by Dorothy Kettlwell and Mrs. Frank Davies.

Next meeting is Oct. 4 when Mrs. Harold Armstrong of Columbiana will review the best-selling "Conscience of a Conservative" by Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

Coroner Rules Death Caused By Poisoning

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — The coroner has ruled Mrs. Thelma Jeanne Way, 32, in Portsmouth General Hospital last Saturday died of formaldehyde poisoning, probably self-administered.

Eugene Yeley, 32, who had been held for investigation in the death at first thought due to a beating or a fall, was cleared of any implication—but was turned over to Gallia County authorities on a nonsupport warrant.

Police Probe 2 Burglaries, Wallet Theft

East Liverpool police today are investigating burglaries at a downtown home and a Klondyke laundry and theft of a Wellsville woman shopper's wallet containing $29 from a store counter.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Casto, 311½ W. 3rd St., told police premium certificates issued by a supermarket and valued at $16 were taken from a drawer in their kitchen by an intruder who forced entry during their absence Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Casto said they left home at 4 and returned at 7, finding that the intruder had cut or torn a hole in the screen door. Then he entered via the inner door which was left unlocked, they said.

Mrs. Jean Shannon, 825 Broadway, Wellsville, told police her wallet containing $29 was stolen from a counter in the Celli Music Center on St. Clair Ave. about 6 p. m. yesterday. She said she left the wallet on the counter while talking with the proprietor, John Celli, and when she returned it had been stolen.

The wallet contained a $20 bill, a $5, three $1's and $1 in change, plus an auto title and registration card and a driver's license, she said.

A intruder attempted unsuccessfully to force open a cigarette vending machine early today in the Econ-O-Wash Laundry on Elizabeth St., owned by Paul Conkle of Chester R. D. 1, police said.

Patrolman Jerry Adkins discovered the damage at 5:45 a. m. while on routine patrol. The intruder tore loose the door of the machine, but was unable to open it. There was minor damage to the machine, the officer reported.

Temperature To Dip To Range Of Autumn

The coolest temperature since spring — and more like autumn — will arrive in the East Liverpool area tonight with a low of 43 to 48 forecast.

Today's high will be only 58 to 65, contrasted to the 90-readings earlier in the week. The downtown had 51 degrees this morning.

Blustery winds and light but steady rain ushered in the cold front Thursday afternoon and there may be a few showers this afternoon and more Saturday.

The rain totaled 0.14 inch, according to the Stratton Dam, which recorded a high of 84 yesterday and a low of 59 this morning.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Parent Can Help Child In Spelling

What often distresses you and your child's teacher is to see so many misspelled words, often very short and common ones, in his written work. Whether your child is 8, 12 or 15, you want him to acquire a good spelling conscience—to feel unhappy over spelling any word wrong as he writes. You don't want him to guess and spell a word when he's not sure about its correct spelling. When he must write at school he often may not have enough time to look up the word in the dictionary. And the teacher may be too busy to spell the word for him.

ALTHOUGH WE wish the teacher provided more time at school to foster correct spelling in written work, we need not feel time pressures at home. Let us gladly spell a word we can spell when the child doing written work asks us to. When we can't spell the word, let us look it up in the dictionary with him.

If we have a companionable relation with this child, he will incline to look up the spelling of more and more words himself.

It's all very well to help him cultivate the dictionary habit. But if in half - angry tones we often say, "Look it up yourself in the dictionary," he may look for it this time but let it go on a guess next time he is doubtful about a word.

As a rule, I would gladly spell a word for the child doing his homework, whether he is seven or 17. I would be happy that he was eager to spell it correctly and loathe to guess at its spelling.

THE STRATEGIC place for cultivating a good spelling conscience is at home when a child is studying a list of words in order to spell them. Often he will not look carefully at the word right before his eyes. Sometimes he will spell it wrong while looking at it. More often he will spell it wrong by looking away and trying himself out too soon.

About the worst thing he can do is to write it wrong after spelling it once. Another wasteful way is for him to spell it just once while looking at it, then going to the next word.

The secret of learning to spell well is to stick to one word and to spell it correctly while looking right at it over and over until it is mastered.

If your child falters on a word he is spelling aloud or gets one letter wrong, have him try no farther. Mark that word to have him study it by looking at it later. Or right then and there have him, while carefully looking at the word, learn its correct spelling.

DO ANYTHING you can to cause him to keep from spelling any word he is not sure about, to keep him from spelling it wrong. Avoid the temptation to have him keep trying to spell the word from memory until he gets it right and thus practice him in guessing and spelling incorrectly.

My bulletins, "Home Fun with Phonics" and "Home Helps for Poor Spellers," may be had by sending a self - addressed stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. Do you have a suggestion on how to make the sails for my boy's model ships?

A. If it is hard to find cloth that is sufficiently fine to use for these sails, ordinary draftsman's tracing cloth, with the stiffening ingredient boiled out, is excellent for the purpose. Being thin and closely woven, it looks like real sailcloth "scaled down." It should be lightly starched and ironed before being cut to size.

Q. Is there any way I can "camouflage" the small cracks or checks in chinaware?

A. You can make these almost unnoticeable if the dishes are boiled in sweet milk for about three quarters of an hour.

Q. How can I make a new tag for a shoe lace?

A. If the tag comes off the end of the shoe lace, press a little melted paraffin, or black sealing wax, around the end of the lace and shape it to form a tag.

Wayne Tour Set By Poultrymen

LISBON — A tour of Wayne County poultry operations has been planned by the Columbiana-Mahoning Poultry committee Tuesday and anyone interested may attend with no reservations necessary, according to Don Myers, county extension agent in agriculture.

Seven Wayne County farms producing eggs and broilers will be visited.

Those desiring to double-up in transportation may meet at 9 a. m. at the Damascus Friends Church parking lot.

Other locations to be inspected are Loyal and Charles Hostetler, south of Smithville; Harry McGinn, northwest of Madisonburg; Ray Gortner, southeast of New Pittsburg; Dwight Martin, southwest of Lattasburg, and Jerry Ladrach, south of Rittman.

Thin Girls Should Keep Vacation Appetite

Ida Jean Kain

The scales may or may not show a gain at the end of summer, even though you have been eating heartily. Don't let that discourage you, for by continuing with good meals you will slowly but surely begin to pick up needed pounds.

The fall of the year is an excellent time for a physical check-up. Make an appointment with a good medical man and find out if you are anemic or have some minor infection that is pulling you down.

Do you have a normally good appetite? Appetite comes with eating . . . by having good meals at regular times, you build an appetite for food at those hours.

IT IS MOST important for the thin person to eat meals on schedule. You know yourself that when you go beyond mealtime, your interest in food wanes.

Just as there are formula diets on the market to help overweights reduce, there are dietary mixtures containing booster nutrients to help underweights gain.

Your dietitian experimented to see if such products did stimulate appetite. I added a protein-mineral-vitamin supplement to my milk at lunch and again at my afternoon snack. To my enormous surprise, I had to get up at midnight to eat. I was starved . . . all I could think of was food. This practice had to stop!

Thin girls, in order to put a little meat on your bones, daily calories must exceed your fuel requirements. It takes high quality nutrition, plus extra calories, for gaining. Certain nutrients aid in the assimilation of foods.

This is the purpose of the booster nutrients furnished in protein supplements. Your stepped - up appetite will make you want more food.

If you smoke, be sure to confine your smoking to the end of the meal since it dulls appetite. Also, avoid excess coffee drinking.

Analyze the meal at which you slight good nutrition, and improve the meal. One underweight, unable to eat breakfast, hit upon this plan: She walked part way to work and then stopped to order breakfast. After she had built up an appetite for breakfast she had not eaten at home.

ANOTHER skinny gal succeeded in gaining by reserving her lunch hour for eating and relaxing. No more shopping! When the weather was fine, she sat in the park.

Thin girls, you have everything to gain by improving your nutrition. Find ways to do it.

Send a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope for "Grade A Nutrition For Gaining." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Postcard requests cannot be answered.

Governor Sets Date Of Schuck Execution

BEAVER — Gov. David Lawrence has set the week of Oct. 23 for the execution of Arthur Grover Schuck of Baden who was convicted in the 1958 murder of Vincent J. Quigley.

It will be the first since Robert Lee Williams of Pittsburgh was electrocuted Oct. 28, 1959.

Gov. Lawrence declared a moratorium on executions earlier this year pending outcome of legislation to abolish capital punishment. The bill died in a Senate committee.

The governor also fixed execution dates for James Cater and George Lee Rivers of Philadelphia, who were involved in the March 1957 killing of Lewis Viner, a Philadelphia druggist.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Today was my birthday. When my husband left for work he didn't say anything. I thought for sure I would receive some sort of surprise during the day. Nothing happened.

When he came from work, still nothing. Finally after dinner I said to him, "Do you know what day it is?"

He said, "Of course, it's Friday."

I asked, "Is there anything SPECIAL about this Friday?"

He answered, "Yeah, there was less smog than usual."

After about an hour I decided if I didn't say something I'd blow up, so I screamed, "TODAY IS MY BIRTHDAY!" His comment was, "I knew it was some time in September but the day always slips my mind. Buy a nice present for yourself, Honey, and give me the bill."

I'm hurt, angry and disappointed. What shall I do? — GEORGE'S WIFE.

Dear Wife: Buy yourself a nice present and give him the bill.

She Was Lucky

Dear Ann: I'm an average-looking stenographer, age 20, and I live at home with my parents, which I'm beginning to think is a big mistake.

Last night when I got out of the office the rain was coming down very hard. I stood on the curb trying to hail a taxi for about 15 minutes — soaked to the skin. Dozens of taxis passed me — all occupied.

Finally a nice-looking car stopped and the man at the wheel looked respectable. He opened the car door and asked if he could give me a lift. He drove me straight home after some polite conversation. I thanked him and that's all there was to it.

My mother asked how I got home and when I told her she blew up. Ordinarily I would never accept a ride with a stranger but under the circumstances I feel it was all right. Do you agree? — BERNICE.

Dear Bernice: Under no circumstances is it all right to get into a stranger's car. You were fortunate that the man was harmless and that he drove you straight home "after some polite conversation." Few girls who accept pickups are so lucky.

The newspapers have reported many tragedies which resulted from similar incidents. You were a whole lot luckier than smart. Never again, Toots.

Mail Is Private

Dear Ann: Is it all right for a wife to open mail which is addressed to her husband? This matter has been unresolved in our home for 10 years. You are going to settle it.

I was raised never to open mail which was not addressed to me. In my wife's family the first person to get his hands on the mail opened everything. My wife knows it irritates me when she opens my mail but she continues to do it. I still do not open hers.

She claims you will be on her side because your column makes a strong point that in a good marriage there are no secrets. How about this? — VERDICT WANTED.

Dear Wanted: Your wife loses, Mail is private property. People of integrity wouldn't dream of opening a letter addressed to someone else.

In a solid marriage, there are no secrets. But the information is offered freely and willingly. It isn't obtained by beating one another to the mailbox.

Confidentially

TO SAS: This in a fine time to send out an SOS. The ship has already gone down, Toots. See a lawyer.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Zelch In TV Debut Saturday . . .

Watch for No. 31 to flash across your screen Saturday in the nationally-televised Pitt-Miami game from Florida.

The wearer of that number will be Dave Zelch of East Liverpool, a standout on the 1959 Potter football team, who will be making his debut on the Hurricane's varsity squad in the Orange Bowl. Game time is 4:30 p. m.

Zelch, a 180-pounder now, has shown up well on defense, according to the Miami coaching staff and will get some spot assignments at a linebacker position, according to present plans

TOM BROOKS

Brooks At N. Carolina U . . .

ANOTHER DISTRICT gridder seeking a starting berth on a big-time college eleven is Tom Brooks of Lisbon.

Brooks, a sophomore like Zelch, is a member of the University of North Carolina team and head coach Jim Hickey says "he is about our fastest back and could become the breakaway runner we need."

At present, Tom, a former pupil of Bud Bucher's, has his work cut out for him. He is running with the fourth unit at right half, with the three ahead of him being more experienced.

He has been clocked in 9.9 in the 100-yard dash and is expected to be a mainstay on the Tar Heels track team next spring. Besides the football field, Brooks is also oustanding in the classroom and is majoring in chemistry. He was an honor student at Lisbon High.

North Carolina U. scouts spotted Brooks in the now defunct Pennsylvania-Ohio All-Star game played in East Liverpool in 1960. It didn't take them long to make up their minds. They were on his doorstep the very next day urging him to attend North Carolina.

Baldwin, who was headed for Memphis State, changed his mind several weeks ago and landed at the Northwestern Ohio school.

BILL MAYHEW, one of the finest backs to come out of Chester High School in many a season, is making a strong bid to fill a halfback post at Geneva College. A sophomore this season, Mayhew saw considerable action during the 1960 campaign.

—:—

TURNING to basketball, Ray Bigelow, who performed for the Potters two years ago, has transferred from Toledo University to Steubenville College.

Ray will be eligible in the second semester towards the end of January and should give Coach Wayne Smith's team a good inside punch. A teammate of Ray's will be Wellsville's Dan Baldwin, who was a member of the Steubenville College squad last season.

Wade Leaves Racing . . .

ONE OF the finest men in horse racing is leaving the game. When the final race is run Saturday at Waterford Park, Horace Wade officially will end his association with the Hancock County track and step out of racing for the first time in 25 years.

We believe that he will come back to racing in the future, but for the present he plans to complete his new novel "The Night Riders," a story about the South.

Wade was tabbed the "miracle man of racing" for development of many other tracks, including Monmouth Park, Gulfstream Park and Hazel Park. He made improvements at Waterford Park, with this year showing an increase in both wagering and attendance.

However, Wade began losing interest and the fact that he didn't see eye-to-eye on the policies of other Waterford officials led to his resignation.

Wellsville, Beavers Picked . . .

Although the score was off on the East Liverpool-Niles game, the predicted spread of 40 points was correct, we're sorry to say.

After another look into the crystal ball, the following scores popped up. Lisbon was a surprise winner over Carrollton but we feel Wellsville deserves to be a slight favorite over the Blue Devils, but not by much. It looks like Wellsville 22, Lisbon 14.

In a big local rivalry at Chester tonight, experience should pay off for Beaver Local. It looks like Beaver Local 33, Chester 13.

Midland is due for a victory, but must tighten its defenses on an offensive-minded Canon-McMillan team. Midland 27, Canon-McMillan 20.

East Palestine will find Beaver a little tougher than Canfield was last week, but the Bulldogs should prevail with a 14-6 victory.

In other contests, we like Paul Conrad & Co. (Leetonia) over Rootstown, 27-14; Columbiana 22, McDonald 6; Salem 20, Youngstown North 0, and Avella 32, South Side 14.

Saturday, United 36, Crestview 6 and Stanton Local 22, Mt. Pleasant 12.

Second Scrimmage Scheduled For Bucks

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State's football team holds its second scrimmage today, hoping to erase some of the faults that showed up in movies after Wednesday's first scrimmage.

The Buckeyes have the weekend off, and after Monday they will drill only once a day instead of twice a day.

Quits Browns Post

CLEVELAND (AP) — Edward J. Coen, publicity director of the Cleveland Barons the past 14 years, has resigned to accept a similar position at Northfield Park in Northfield.

N. Cumberland Whips Newell, 39-0

Soph Star Nets 3 Touchdowns

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

A brilliant young sophomore, Alan Pettit, raced for three touchdowns to turn New Cumberland's strong ground and air assault into a 39-0 victory Thursday night at Newell.

Some 800 fans braved a first half rain shower to see Coach John Kuzio's squad score in every period and blank its county rival.

The Blue Raiders were on the rebound from a 6-0 loss in their opener with Northwestern last week and had a field day in registering their first victory of the young campaign.

Meanwhile, Newell dropped its second straight contest and failed to get any closer than the New Cumberland 39-yard line last night.

A light rain caused the ball handling to be tough for both teams. Newell fumbled four times with New Cumberland recovering the ball on each occassion.

The other touchdown was registered by junior end Ken Freshwater who took a 47-yard pass from quarterback Allen Katzenmeyer.

Bursky opened the scoring with about five minutes gone in the first quarter by racing 25 yards to the end zone on a drive that started from the Newell 49. A placement attempt failed.

New Cumberland pushed two TD's across in the second period with Pettit netting both tallies.

The young speedster raced wide around the left side and outran Newell defenders by going 42 yards for the touchdown. Katzenmeyer added his first of three straight placements.

LATE IN the second quarter, a 23-yard run by Katzenmeyer set up the third Raider touchdown. New Cumberland, with a first down on the Newell 3-yard line, sent Pettit around the right side for the remaining distance and his second TD. Katzenmeyer's accurate toe made it 20-0 at halftime.

It took New Cumberland only four plays in the second half and the team from the county seat was scoring again. This time it came on the accurate arm of Katzenmeyer who hit Freshwater on the Newell 25 and the junior end legged the remaining yardage for the touchdown.

With less than a minute remaining in the third quarter, a fumble set up another Raider touchdown with Bursky going around the left side for a 16-yard touchdown run.

PETTIT'S final touchdown was the most electrifying of the evening. The 150-pounder picked a Newell fumble out of the air on the Raider 35-yard line and streaked 65 yards for the touchdown.

New Cumberland showed a 10-6 edge in first downs and picked up 174 yards on the ground. Katzenmeyer, a deadly passer, completed five out of nine for 115 yards and one touchdown.

Coach Pete Horoszko's Vikings couldn't get a drive started. They picked up 96 yards rushing, but were thrown for 43 yards in losses.

Quarterback Mick Staley attempted 10 passes and completed five, mostly for short gainers for a total of 52 yards.

Newell Back Injured In Cumberland Game

Bill Monroe, Newell halfback, suffered a slight concussion in the second quarter of the Newell - New Cumberland game Thursday night and had to be carried off the field on a stretcher. He was examined by a doctor at the game and was reported in good condition but was not permitted to return to the contest.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 15, 1961 EAST LIVERPOOL REVIEW PAGE 14

MICKEY MANTLE throws his hat toward his bench after hitting into a force play in the eighth inning, forcing his teammate Roger Maris at second base in the second game of a doubleheader Thursday night at Chicago. Two of the hottest acts in baseball—Maris and Mantle—were stopped in Chicago as both went without home runs in three games. Maris has 56 and Mantle 53. The White Sox took both ends of the twinbill, 8-3 and 4-3. New York moves on to Detroit, meeting the Tigers in a twi-night doubleheader tonight. (UPI Telephoto)

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Babe Ruth can catch Roger Maris tonight.

That's the situation that faces Maris for the first time this season as he moves his assault on the Bambino's home-run record to Detroit, where the American League-leading New York Yankees will be trying to clinch their 11th pennant in the last 13 years.

Maris, with 56 homers and a one-game edge over Ruth's record 60 pace of 1927, heads into the Detroit twi-nighter with a five game homer drought after the Chicago White Sox held him to three singles in an 8-3 and 4-3 doubleheader sweep over the Yankees Thursday.

"I think I've still got a chance—if I can get hot in Detroit," said Maris. "I haven't given up. I like to hit in Detroit. Maybe I'll get hot there."

Teammate Mickey Mantle, with 53 homers, said after the White Sox twinbill that he was "about ready to give up. I don't see how I can make it now. I haven't got a chance now—even in 162 games."

Despite the doubleheader loss, the Yankees reduced their magic pennant-clinching number when the second place Tigers lost to Kansas City 5-2, and can wrap up the flag by taking three of four from Detroit. The Tigers are 10½ games back in the standings.

In the only other AL games scheduled Thursday, Los Angeles beat Minnesota 5-1 in the opener of a doubleheader, then lost the nightcap 3-1.

In the National League the second-place Los Angeles Dodgers defeated Pittsburgh 7-6 and moved within five games of the first-place Cincinnati Reds, who were idle. Philadelphia beat San Francisco 4-3 in 10 innings and St. Louis defeated Chicago twice, 8-7 and 6-5 in 11 innings.

The White Sox snapped the Yankees 13-game winning streak, their longest of the season, when Floyd Robinson smacked a two-run homer and Jim Landis hit a three-run shot off rookie Rollie Sheldon (9-5) in the first inning. Ray Herbert (10-12) won it with relief help from Billy Pierce and Warren Hacker in the late innings.

The Yankees took a 3-0 lead in the seventh inning of the nightcap on Elston's Howard's two-run homer, singles by Bill Skowron and Hec Lopez and Clete Boyer's sacrifice fly. But the White Sox scored three in the ninth after two were out to hang the first defeat on relief specialist Luis Arroyo since June 19.

Wayne Causey hit a home run for the A's and saved Bob Shaw (11-12) with a diving catch of Jake Wood's liner in the eighth for an inning-ending doubleplay that stopped the Tigers after they had one run in and two men on. Dick Brown drove in both Detroit runs with a single before Causey's play and a seventh inning homer. Paul Foytack (10-10) was the loser.

Yesterday's Stars

Pitching — Jim Kaat, Twins, hurled three-hitter for 3-1 victory over Angels in second game of doubleheader.

Hitting—Ken Boyer, Cardinals, was 7-for-11 and drove in five runs in 8-7 and 6-5 triumphs over Cubs, winning the nightcap with a homer in the 11th inning.

College Season Gets Underway

Pitt, Miami Top Openers

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The 1961 college football season opens Saturday with a rather subdued fare the first time out this year.

But they'll show the nation a couple of interesting teams on television and begin a couple of hectic conference battles right away.

Pitt's Panthers, considered one of the East's top independents, and always-interesting Miami (Fla.) kick off the proceedings Saturday afternoon in Miami's Orange Bowl. This game is the first of the weekly televised games, beginning at 4:15 p.m., Eastern Daylight Time, ABC-TV.

Three of the four Missouri Valley conference members are in action while Eastern independent Villanova plays Miami (Ohio), in a night game. Big Eight member Iowa State, sparked by halfback Dave Hoppman, plays intrastate rival Drake.

Missouri Valley champion Wichita is at Toledo for a night game. Cincinnati hosts Dayton and Tulsa entertains Hardin-Simmons, also both at night.

Utah State, 1960 Skyline champ with a 9-1 mark, opens against Texas Western at night, while this year's Skyline favorite, Wyoming, plays Montana at Billings, Mont. in the afternoon. A third Skyline game pits Colorado State U. at Utah in a night game.

Machen And DeJohn Will Tangle Saturday

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Eddie Machen and Mike DeJohn, a couple of veteran heavyweights, clash in a return bout Saturday night at the War Memorial Auditorium.

The 10-rounder will be telecast (ABC 9 p.m., EST) coast to coast.

Machen, conqueror of DeJohn last April, is an 8-5 favorite to make it two straight over the 29-year-old Syracuse puncher.

Machen, 29, from Portland, Ore., is ranked fourth among the contenders.

Snider's Pinch-Hit Homer Keeps Dodgers' Hopes Alive

Pirates Nipped, 7-6, In 9th Frame

By MIKE RATHET
ssociated Press Sports Writer

Duke Snider, 35, a gray-haired eran among a talented group fuzzy-cheeked youngsters, has ot alive the Los Angeles Dod-s' flickering hopes of overtak- the Cincinnati Reds in the Na-nal League pennant scramble. nider did it with a three-run ch-hit homer in the last of the th that beat the Pittsburgh ates 7-6 Thursday night and wed the second-place Dodgers hin five games of the league-ding Reds, who were idle.

The Dodger victory left the Reds' magic number at nine. Any combination of nine Cincinnati victories and-or Los Angeles defeats will give the Reds their first NL flag since 1940.

Wes Covington's second homer of the game in the 10th inning gave Philadelphia a 4-3 victory over San Francisco and pushed the Giants into fourth place behind idle Milwaukee. St. Louis took a doubleheader from the Chicago Cubs, 8-7 and 6-5 in 11 innings.

In the American League, Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle were held homerless as the Chicago White Sox whipped the first-place New York Yankees 8-3 and 4-3. Kansas City beat second-place Detroit 5-2. Minnesota and Los Angeles split, the Angels winning the opener 5-1 and the Twins taking the nightcap 3-1.

The Dodgers trailed 6-3 going into the ninth, but started acting up when Ron Fairly singled, Wally Moon walked and Frank Howard chased reliever Clem Labine with a run-producing single. Elroy Face came in, tagged out Tommy Davis on a sacrifice play, then got two strikes by Snider before the Duke sent one over the right field fence.

That gave the win to Ed Roebuck. Face, who was making his 58th appearance as the fourth Pirate pitcher, is 6-10.

Covington's second homer won it for Phils' starter John Buzhardt (6-16) and tagged Dick Lemay (3-6), with the loss after the Giants had tied it in the sixth on Willie Mays' 38th homer, with one on.

Carry Back Favored In U.N. Race

By JOHN CHANDLER

Carry Back, most everyone's choice for the 3-year-old championship, and the winners of three recent races for 2-year-olds will strut their stuff Saturday at Atlantic City and Belmont Park.

There are two big races on the weekend program, the invitational $100,000 United Nations Handicap on the Atlantic City grass course, and the Futurity at Belmont Park.

Six juveniles are expected to go in the Futurity, which would boost its value to $140,270. Jaipur, Sir Gaylord and Green Ticket are the big names — all having won $100,-000-plus races recently.

Carry Back, owned by Mrs. Jack Price of Miami, meets older horses in the 1 3-16 mile United Nations, and he's listed as the 8-5 choice to win his fifth $100,000 affair of the year. Twelve are listed to go in the ninth running of the U.N.

Carry Back won the Kentucky Derby, Preakness, Flamingo and Florida Derby before suffering an injury and finishing seventh in the Belmont Stakes. He's the leading money winner of the year with $490,000.

Wolfram is top weighted with 127 pounds, against 123 for Carry Back.

The U.N. will be televised 4:30-5 p.m. EST (CBS)

M-Boys Strictly On Own; Houk Holds Lineup Order

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

DETROIT (AP)—New York Manager Ralph Houk will not move Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle to the top of the batting order to help them in their struggle to break Babe Ruth's home run record. The M-boys will be strictly on their own.

Houk acknowledged today he had given thought to placing Maris in the leadoff spot and Mantle right behind him if the Yankees clinch the American League pennant. After deliberating the matter, Houk decided against this revolutionary move, which would have given the sluggers several additional times at bat.

"Nobody is more anxious than I for them to break the record," said the manager. "By the same token, I don't think they should receive any special favors in order to make the job easier for them."

Maris, with 56 homers in 148 games (including one tie), is only one ahead of Ruth's record 60 pace of 1927 and must hit four in the next seven decisions to tie the Bambino's mark in 154 games. Mantle, with 53 home runs, fell five games back of the Babe.

Houk was not at all sure that moving his two top sluggers higher up in the batting order would help them.

"First of all," he said, "they would be coming up more often with the bases empty and therefore would be more apt to be walked. Second, a move like that might anger the pitchers and make them more determined not to give Roger and Mickey anything within hitting range.

"Even more important is consideration for the other clubs. Some of them will still be battling for positions."

'Maybe A Little Bit Better'

Hayes Says OSU Improved Over '60, Lauds Warfield

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—There are always two things predictable about Ohio State football.

One is that Buckeyes Coach Woody Hayes is completely unpredictable in his public comments.

The other is that Hayes' hard-belting Bucks are constant challengers for Big Ten and national honors with primarily Ohio-grown talent.

Hayes startled a score of "Skywriter" scribes touring Big Ten camps with the first hint by a top football source that the college grid ranks will soon be dragged into the "rigging" gambling scandal that has marred college basketball.

Then Hayes told the "Skywrtiers" he resented the loss of time to talk to them when he could be better occupied with counseling Buckeye reserves who might be tempted to quit his squad in discouragement.

He also disparaged ratings of teams, asserting any football coach knows games are won on the field. "I don't think polls can possibly help a team," he said.

In the recent Associated Press pre-season poll of writing experts, Big Ten co-champion Iowa was rated No. 1 in the nation and Ohio State was runnerup.

However, Hayes, who shifts conversational gears swiftly, said, "Don't think there is any question but that Iowa should be rated No. 1." He added that Ohio State "definitely" should be rated in the first division of the Big Ten.

Here is Hayes' analysis of his Buckeye squad minus five starters from the 1960 club which had a 7-2 overall mark and was third in the Bgi Ten with a 4-2 record:

"We will compare about the same as last year, maybe a little bit better. We have as much or a little more speed than last year. We don't anticipate many injuries because we're in good shape. The team has one thing going for them—they have a mean coach."

Ohio State's problems, on the surface, appear to be at quarterback where versatile Tom Matte must be replaced, and the interior of the line which must be rebuilt.

"He's a real competitor with ice water in his veins," said Haye

Th econversation piece among Buckeye fans is 182-pound sophomore Paul Warfield, boomed as Ohio State's best break-way threat since Hopalong Cassady.

"He's going to be a good one," said Hayes.

About One Dozen Seen For Little Brown Jug

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP) — The nation's niftiest sidewheelers are all set for next Thursday's $70,000 Little Brown Jug pace for 3-year-olds at the Delaware County Fairgrounds.

About a dozen are expected to go in the 16th annual classic over the lightning-fast half-mile oval where "juggers" have picked up purses of $888,070.03 in the last 15 years.

The Grand Circuit session opens Monday, and the four-day program figures to hand out $153,000 to the winning drivers in a 16-race set.

Fresh from a surprise conquest in the Cane Pace at Yonkers, N. Y., first leg of pacing's triple trophy, Cold Front will be among the Jug favorites. Clint Hodgins will pilot the Cane winner, property of the Stonybrook Stable of Yonkers. Hodgins won the 1959 Jug with Adios Butler, only pacer ever to win the triple crown.

Despite finishing a dismal ninth in the Cane, the probable odds-on Jug favorite will be Adios Don, who won $77,607 as a 2-year-old for owners Jane and Harold Large of Garden City, Long Island. Until the Cane, Adios Don had won 9 of 12 starts this year, and his 1:58 4-5 is the third fastest of the year by a 3-year-old pacer.

Others seeking to succeed Bullet Hanover as the Jug champion include Lang Hanover, Adiosand, Henry T. Adios, Brooks Hanover and Way Wave—the latter a filly.

No filly has ever taken the big race, but three have won heats, and Way Wave's 1:58 at Du Quoin, Ill., is the season's second best.

Lang Hanover has the year's top clocking, 1:57 4-5, set at Springfield, Ill., and Ohioans probably will back him to the limit. He's the property of Samuel Huttenbauer of Cincinnati. He will be driven by Jim (Rocky) Hackett of London, Ohio. Only one Buckeye owner has taken the big prize, and only one Ohio reinsman has driven a winner.

Keystoner won the 1953 running for George Tipling of Cleveland, and T. Wayne (Curly) Smart of Delaware subbed for ailing Sep Palin to drive Ensign Hanover to victory in the 1946 inaugural. Smart also rode the sulky in 1952 as Meadow Rice romped in for the big money.

The exact size of the field will not be determined until Tuesday when the owners drop the $500 starting fee into the box.

Collins Leading In Seattle Golf

SEATTLE (AP) — Bill Collins of Miami, Fla., led the way into the second round of the $25,000 Greater Seattle Open Tournament today with a two-stroke edge.

While slim Bill was shaving six strokes off the Broadmoor Golf Club's par 70 Thursday, however, little-known Miller Barber of El Dorado, Ark., stole the spotlight with a hole-in-one where it counted most.

Barber sank a two-iron tee shot on the seventh hole, a feat for which the tourney sponsors had posted a $10,000 prize. All the cash goes to Barber unless another golfer duplicates the shot in the next three days of play to earn a share in the prize.

Dave Hill of Denver, maintaining the pace that earned him first place last week in the Denver Open, was two strokes behind Collins at 66. He shared second spot with Al Balding of Toronto and Jacky Cupit of Longview, Tex.

Seven professionals, Barber among them, were tied at 67.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

That Was No Ghost, It Was Pat Weaver

Vice presidents and page boys at NBC thought they were looking at a ghost when Sylvester (Pat) Weaver came striding down the studio hallway.

Hal Humphrey

It has been nearly six years since Weaver was eased out of NBC's presidency, and that was a black day for TV.

Even his enemies concede that under his stewardship TV saw more innovations and experienced more excitement than the medium has had since he left it.

But NBC, and all of TV for that matter, was afraid of Weaver and his "wild ideas" like "Wide Wide World," "Today," "Project 20" and "spectaculars."

THE MEDIUM'S big executives felt safer with the half-hour comedies, cops-and-robbers and cowboy shows. And because the ratings said that more people watched these latter "bread-and-butter" programs, the sponsor decided he must be selling more chewing gum with them.

Weaver's visit to NBC last week was in his new capacity as president of McCann-Erickson productions, the ad agency's TV-radio division. One of its clients is Westinghouse, which is sponsoring 18 TV specials and splitting them among the three networks this season. The first of these is "Sound of the '60s," produced by Dore Schary and Hubbell Robinson, and airing on NBC Oct. 9.

Weaver was in Hollywood to see how the production was coming, and renew old acquaintances. He doesn't seem bitter nor surprised over TV's present state of flabbiness.

"I PREDICTED that the networks would follow each other downhill with their programming," says Weaver. "When you have only three buyers — I mean the networks — and one supplier of B pictures, which is Hollywood, the result is predictable.

"The trouble is, it isn't television, because television can take you anywhere. You've got to have forms that satisfy the whole picture.

"Even the sponsors are realizing this. A friend of mine, who happens to be one of the blue chip sponsors in television, told me recently that unless the medium offers more than it has, this is his last year in it."

WEAVER DOESN'T subscribe to the theory that better programming must wait for sponsors with a better developed social consciousness. When he refers to TV "forms that satisfy the whole picture," he is talking about programs that can both sell goods and offer viewers a cultural uplift.

"I have a plan which would give a client quality without his product having to suffer from the lower rating, but I can't discuss it now. Don't forget, ad agencies are no longer in the production of television," says Weaver, grinning.

Soon after Weaver surrendered at NBC in 1956, he tried to set up an independent TV service to give to network-affiliated stations a type of program no longer furnished by the network itself.

He signed Sid Caesar and "Ding Dong School" and got virtually no further. The affiliates, at least at that time, didn't see the need for anything but what the networks gave them.

FOR THE PAST three years Weaver has been chairman of Corp., a post which took him out of the country and away from TV.

If I were making a prediction, it would be that Pat Weaver is going to be calling the signals for one of the major networks before the 1962-62 TV season begins.

He reports that one unnamed network already has asked him to furnish it with an idea for a big show like his ole NBC "Comedy Hour." Of course, Weaver never comes up with an idea "like" ones he already has had, but it was evident that he was happy go go to work on it.

"After three years," says Weaver, "I'm ready to make another run at these bozos."

$500 Proceeds Netted In Bazaar

Proceeds of $500, to be used for the Chester City Park Community Building, were netted in the three-day bazaar held last week, Harold Dickey, Park Commission chairman, reported.

Proceeds were counted at a meeting Wednesday evening of the commission, the bazaar committee and representatives of organizations which participated in the affair.

Dickey said a special meeting of the commission will be held tonight at 7:30 at City Hall to decide on a proposal of the Post Office Department to purchase land at the entrance to the park. The government has offered $10,000 for the land for a post office site.

Dickey said an electric drinking fountain has been installed in the Community Building, furnished by the Women's Civic Club as a memorial for Mrs. Eva Johnston. He said the club plans to place a plaque on the fountain later.

NAACP Officer Cited In Embezzling Case

LORAIN, Ohio (AP)—Mrs. Eula Spencer of Lorain, treasurer of the Lorain branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, has been accused of embezzling $1,363.32 from the group's funds.

According to Floyd Harris, assistant county prosecutor, Mrs. Spencer has returned $472 to the NAACP account over the last three weeks. The warrant accusing Mrs. Spencer was signed by Jack Rutledge, branch president, who said an audit revealed the shortage. Mrs. Spencer became treasurer in January, 1960.

Fund Plea Launched By Child Health Clinic

Letters will be placed in the mail Saturday asking contributions to help support activities of the Child Health Clinic.

Officials of the Business and Professional Women's Club, which sponsors the clinic, said about 250 individuals are being contacted in the annual fund drive. The letters are going to residents of East Liverpool, Wellsville, Chester and Newell, communities served by the clinic.

Hundreds of underprivileged children up to 6 years old have been aided by the clinic since it was organized in 1947.

Following is a resume of the clinic's expenses for the fiscal year ended March 30:

Drugs, $808.18; physicians and dentists, $254; hospital, $45.65; milk, $116.43, and supplies, $26.60, for a total of $1,250.86. There were 98 children treated.

In making fund appeal, clinic officials explained that routine treatment for each child includes four polio shots, immunization against diptheria, whooping cough, tetanus, smallpox and a patch test for tuberculosis.

They had this to say also: "We like to repeat each year that no part of your donation goes for overhead. It is spent entirely for the benefit of the children, with only a token fee to our director.

"We sincerely appreciate your generosity and support in the past and hope that you will wish to continue. Any donation you make to us is a tax deduction, since our clinic is registered with the government and we are a recognized charitable organization."

The clinic's board is comprised of May Hartt, chairman, Frances Jones, club president, Jane Crawford, Jane Jolly and Mary McCullough.

Chief Continues Curb On Liquor At Games

East Liverpool police will continue enforcement this season of a rule that prohibits carrying alcoholic beverages onto Patterson Field, Chief Americo J. Radeschi warned today.

He issued the warning with the approach of the Potters first home game of the 1961-62 season Sept. 22 with Steubenville Central. The ban has been in force since the 1958-59 season. It has been credited with curbing offensive language, fights and other disorders, the chief pointed out.

Snyder PTA's Benefit Set

Plans for a public card party and bake sale were discussed when the Snyder Parent-Teacher Association met Wednesday night in the Ohio Township school.

Mrs. Homer Paul and Mrs. George Madish were named to complete arrangements for the event Oct. 11 at 8 p. m. in the school.

Members decided to purchase an attendance banner and a book at the end of the year for the room with the highest attendance at PTA meetings.

Mrs. Harry Henkin will be guest speaker at the meeting Oct. 12 at 8 p. m. in the school. Her topic will concern, "The United Nations, Man's Last Hope for Peace". Eighth grade mothers will be in charge of refreshments. Every member is to bring a tea fowel.

Next board meeting is Oct. 5.

Fall flowers centered the tea table and Mrs. Phillip Graham, hostess chairman, poured. Refreshments were furnished by the Executive Board.

4 Girls To Attend Scout Conference

The scouts will participate in group discussions, individual conferences and buzz sessions.

Mrs. H. Russell Smith, chairman of the local camping committee, is also planning to attend.

Ohioville Democrats Hear Election Official

what's new at Olsen's?

"Fashion Naturals."

"Ollie Olsen"

Olsen's salute the American Fashion Natural . . . the woman who firmly believes that clothes are to be lived in as well as admired . . . who's famous for picking fashions to fit her way of life. Good looks and ease are her trademarks . . . in handsome knitted dresses, in understated costumes, in the beautifully tailored separates that she loves.

Stand up and cheer . . . Fashion scores again. Imaginary pictures of coats flash through milady's head early in the fall like visions of sugar plums. What type coat to choose? What color? What Material?

Tuck your visions in the back of your little head and stop in Olsen's coat department. There you will find all the coats you have been dreaming about. Short coats, long coats, fur-trims and casuals.

You will be thrilled with the wonderful selections to be found there. For the Rah-Rah crowd there is a great assortment of raccoon and fox collared coats. Whether your campus bound or taking your first strides in a new career, you will love these razzle dazzle raccoon collared coats. They have a luxury look about them that is extremely flattering. We have so many styles to choose from, too . . . Camel blend-tweeds, plaids, and black and white checks, fashioned in either straight or soft flaring styles. Remember you don't have to be a girl genius to take honors for fashion, nor a financial wizard to know how to make your dollars go further. These coats are priced at only $39.95 in sizes 5-15. Make sure you see these coats. You will be glad you did.

The sportswear department is all excited about all their new fall styles. Blouses, skirts, sweaters, and all the important accessories to match. The most vital part of any girl's wardrobe this season are the colorful separates to mix, to match, to clash! Olsen's has a tremendous selection of all these match mates. One of the most important is the bulky knit sweater—novelty cardigans or the popular pull-over with huge coul collars. All the sweaters you will need for a "swinging' semester." Or perhaps you would like one of the newer jacquard prints to wear with either skirts or tapered pants. No matter how you wear them, you will need several. The price is small enough that you can do this very thing, in all sizes, in all the new fall colors.

The slack story this fall is — longer, leaner, and more tapered than ever before. Exciting new patterns, long wearing, easy to care for fabrics, clever new pocket & belt details, made with that custom look, cut clean as a whistle and close to your figure, with just enough room to swing, sway, and sashay around. Fully lined to keep their shape (and do justice to yours).

Olsen's just received dozens of new tapered pants in their sportswear department. Corduroys, flannels, stretch, and many others for as low as 2.88. You will love these with your bulky sweaters. Why not select two or three, put them on layby till a later date. Then when the cold wind blows, you will be all set. Remember Olsen's are open every night till 9.

That's all today . . . see you next Friday.
